Working Beside Track and His Skull Was Crushed--Was Section Fore- man--Leg of Driver of Car Broken

When the Ford sedan, driven by Paul Smith, of Greenfield, was struck by an east bound passenger train at Leesburg Thursday afternoon, W. A. Kuhn, of Leesburg, was injured so badly that he died a few hours later. Smith's left leg was broken above the knee and he suffered slight internal injuries.

The manner in which Kuhn was killed was most unusual. He was a section foreman of the B. & O. and was working with a wheel barrow near the crossing at the depot in Leesburg. Smith not seeing the approaching train attempted to go over the crossing. The back of his car was struck by the engine of the train. The car was thrown against Kuhn, his skull being crushed by an iron piece of the machine. Smith was thrown through the top of the sedan. Kuhn never regained consciousness and it is probable that he never realized that he was in any danger.

Both Kuhn and Smith were placed on the train and taken to the Greenfield Hospital, where Kuhn died a few hours later. Smith is getting along nicely and will recover.

Smith is the 17 year old son of County Commissioner and Mrs. C. E. Smith. He says that he was watching some cars on a side track and did not see the approaching train in time to stop and that if the signal bell was ringing that he did not hear it.

Kuhn was a resident of Leesburg and his body was brought to his home on Thursday night and funeral services were held Monday afternoon. He had a large family and was a highly respected citizen.

Several other fatal accidents have occurred at this crossing.

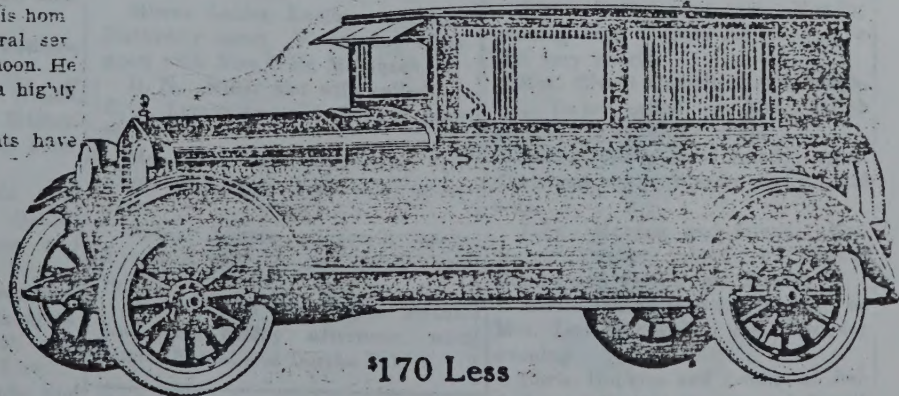

Lewis A. Galliett, one of Mowrytown's most prominent citizens, dropped dead Wednesday night of last week as he was leaving the Odd Fellows Hall in that town. His death was due to heart trouble.

The Odd Fellows had held a supper in their hall that evening and Mr. Galliett and his wife had attended. He was apparently in the best of health and had joined in the social activities of the evening and had had a fine time. He and his wife had left the hall and started home, when Mr. Galliett decided to return to the hall. When in front of it he fell over and died almost instantly.

He was 75 years of age and was engaged in the lumber business and was a most highly respected citizen. He was an active and influential member of the Odd Fellows Lodge and recently had been presented with a beautiful lamp by the members of the lodge as a token of their appreciation of his services.

Funeral services were held at the Mowrytown United Brethren church on Saturday morning.

His wife, one son, W. E. Galliett, four grand-children, one sister and three brothers survive him. Prof. Henry B. Galliett, now of Wilmington, but for many years a prominent teacher of this county is one of his brothers.

Frank Milner had the service in charge. A large concourse of friends attended to pay their respects to a respected citizen whose life was snapped out, while in the line of duty.

The deceased passed away at six o'clock Thursday afternoon, after being unconscious for three hours and a half, following the accident. Paul Smith, 16, son of Commissioner and Mrs. C. E. Smith, of Greenfield, is at the Greenfield hospital, his leg broken at the knee. He will recover, but it is said that he will be abed for several weeks.

Leesburg people, who saw the east bound B. & O. Ayer plow into the Smith Ford Sedan, marveled that the youth is alive, with only a comparatively minor injury. The car, which was thrown against Mr. Kuhn, knocking him under a standing box car, and crushing him, was totally demolished. Smith was not even unconscious when rescuers arrived.

The funeral was delayed in order to permit the deceased's son, Fred, of Yoder, Wyoming, and his daughter, Mrs. Ocie Carter, of Colorado, to attend. Three weeks ago, Carleton Terry, also a former Leesburg boy, now of Yoder, was summoned home on account of the sudden death of his father, Fred Terry. This week, Fred Kuhn, his chum was called home on the same sad mission.

Other survivors are the widow four daughters, Mrs. Elmer Smithson, of Leesburg; Mrs. Mary Breakall, of McKeesport, Pa.; Bessie Kuhn, who teaches in the county schools here, and Helen, a student in Leesburg High School, and another son, Dr. George Kuhn, of Xenia, O.

Lowell Fawley will move to Cincinnati and take a position with a machine company. The other partner was injured some weeks ago, while hoisting a wrecked machine from the roadside, and until he fully recovers, will make no plans.

Memoir of William O. Small.

William O. Small, son of William and Mary Small, was born November 7, 1877, on the farm owned by him at the time of his death, and died December 25th, 1923, aged 46 years, 1 month and 18 days. He was one of eight children of whom 4 sisters and 3 brothers survive him. One sister having preceded him to the great beyond.

He attended the rural schools and afterwards entered business college at Greenfield, Ohio. After graduating he secured a position at Chicago, and worked two years, but had to resign because of ill health.

He later, in 1906, went to North Carolina, where he remained in business, until the death of his father called him home, where he has since resided living with his sister, Jane, and brother, Samuel in the parental home.

While in the South he enlisted with the State Guards, Company H. His captain said of him during the two years of his enlistment, "he had the enviable record of having attended every company drill, since joining the Company, and had never been absent from a single duty. He was a model soldier, and brought honor to himself and his company by qualifying as sharp shooter and expert rifleman. Thus winning medals of which he was justly proud."

For several years he suffered severe attacks of pain, but the nature of the disease was discovered too late for remedy. On Saturday, 22nd of December, he entered the Greenfield Hospital for an operation. The case was known to be a very critical one, but "hope springs eternal in the human breast" and on Monday a slight change for the better encouraged the family and friends. But early Christmas morning he was seen to be sinking. He passed away near the noon hour. Christmas Day our most joyful holiday, was thus turned into one of great grief for the loved ones, who mourn his untimely demise, and also for the community, where he was a general favorite. "Billy," as he was familiarly called, had a kind and friendly disposition, especially was he interested in the children of his acquaintance, and in turn was loved and trusted by them.

We hear Jesus saying, "I am the resurrection and the Life. He that believeth in Me, though he die, he shall live again."

OBITUARY

Louis A. Galliett was born Aug. 2, 1849, and departed this life Dec. 26, 1923, at the age of 74 years, 4 months, 24 days.

He was united in marriage with H. E. Porter March 13, 1873, and this union was blessed with two children: Ida May, born Oct. 8, 1875, who died Sept. 29, 1876, and William Ellsworth, born Jan. 2, 1877, who resides in this village and is book-keeper, for the Mowrystown Lumber Co., of which his father was senior member.

Mr. Galliett was one of a family of eight children, four brothers and three sisters, viz.: Julius S., Joseph J., William F., Henry B., Louisa, Sophia and Mary, three of whom, Sophia, Joseph and Mary, have preceded him to that better home.

He united with the United Brethren Church at Mowrystown, in 1886, under the pastorate of Rev. J. S. Cummings. He was one of the leading members of the church, serving efficiently on the Board of Trustees for many years.

He was a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, having been initiated at Sardinia, Ohio, later becoming one of the charter members of the local lodge in 1898. The principles and teachings of Odd Fellowship were dear to him, and he was untiring in his efforts to make his lodge a success. His last public utterance while in the lodge room a few moments before his death was to sing the song entitled "Scatter Sunshine."

Mr. Galliett was a good Christian, a noble, upright citizen, a fine brother in the lodge, a sturdy member of society of which any community may well be proud.

Engaged in the same occupation as that of the Holy Nazarene, he was a builder of the first type as many edifices in the surrounding community bear evidence.

Whether in the church, the lodge or any organization with which Mr. Galliett was affiliated, his opinion on any question arising was always sane and sound and commanded the respect which it merited. He typified the honest, upright type of manhood which others should emulate. His counsels as a Christian gentleman will be greatly missed.

No death in recent years has touched the hearts of Hillsboro people more deeply, than that of Mrs. Ruth Bunn Winkle, wife of C. N. Winkle, Ass't Cashier of the Merchants National Bank, which occurred Friday evening at 7:30 at the Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton.

Mrs. Winkle's death followed an operation undergone about two weeks previous for ulcers of the stomach. A secondary operation, deemed necessary to arrest internal hemorrhages, was performed a week prior to her death and during the time she was at the hospital, seven blood transfusions were given, in desperate attempts to save the life of this esteemed young woman.

The body was brought to Hillsboro early Saturday morning, and the funeral held at the Christian Church of Hillsboro at 2:30 Sunday afternoon. Beautiful words of tribute to the departed and consolation to the living were pronounced by the pastor, the Rev. S. W. Traum. The church was crowded with friends who braved the intense cold to pay their last respects to a beautiful character. Mr. J. Ed. Shannon read a beautiful memoir to the departed.

Mrs. Winkle was in her 32nd year. She was the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bunn, of Sugartree Ridge, who, with a sister, Mrs. J. W. Irwin, wife of a Dayton physician; three brothers Roy, of Hillsboro; Walter, of Dayton, and John, of Middletown, survive her. The husband and his two children of a former marriage, Millard and Mary, are almost prostrated with grief.

J. Branson Worley was the son of Andrew and Mary Cunningham Worley, and was born August 30, 1857. One sister, May, survives him. November 11, 1886, he was married to Kathryn Doggett. To this marriage three children were born, Winston Scott, Hazel Lucile, now Mrs. Clifford Roads, and Sara Elizabeth, now Mrs. A. C. Prouty, all of whom, with their mother, survive him. He loved his home and within its precincts he found the true joy of living. To the members of the home circles he was kind, considerate, charitable and generous, their comfort and happiness being ever in his mind.

Although in failing health for several years, he, with supreme courage and grim determination kept at his professional work almost to the very last. But his weakened physical condition was too much to overcome, and though shortly before his death he expressed a hope that he would soon be back at his office, he peacefully passed away at early morn. January 11th.

After his death, there was found in his pocket the following extract from a poem:

"So be my passing!
My task accomplished, and the long day done,
My wages taken, and in my heart
Some late lark singing,
Let me be gathered to the quiet West.
The sundown splendid and serene,— Death."

Whether this was the expression of the supreme wish of his heart, or only a passing fancy for a poem, we know not. But in the early morning hour, calm and serene, in the quiet of his own home, with scarce a struggle, his life was closed, and his "long day was done."

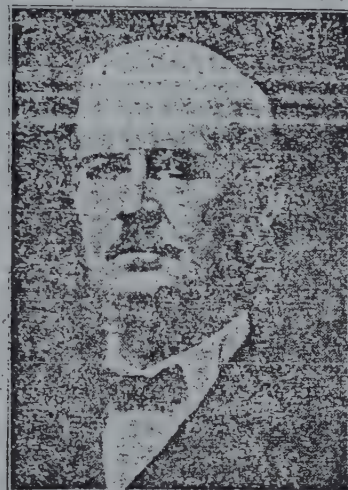

And thus passed away the genial spirited man we knew, who had had a long and useful professional career, who had been honored by the suffrages of his fellow men, exalted to high place by his fraternal brethren, and who was loved and is mourned by his family circle and by his many friends.

Highland county people were shocked and saddened Friday morning, when the news of the sudden death of Judge J. B. Worley, who died at 7:30 that morning, following a stroke of apoplexy, became circulated. Judge Worley had been ill for several days, but the community nor the family dreamed that the end was so near. The Judge has not been in the best of health, since an attack of influenza a few years ago but he has been at his office a greater portion of the time.

Judge Worley, in addition to the political honors bestowed upon him by the people of the county, was at the time of his death Great Sachem of the Improved Order of Red Men of Ohio, the highest office in the state organization. He was also a member of the Knights of Pythias, a charter member in fact, and both orders gathered with hundreds of his other friends to pay tribute to his memory at the funeral Sunday.

Judge Worley was 66 years of age and has practiced law in Hillsboro since 1878. He was twice elected prosecuting attorney of Highland county and twice as Probate Judge. He was perhaps better known, and knew more people in the county than any other man, having a remarkable memory for names and faces.

GREAT SACHEM OF OHIO RED MEN

JUDGE J. B. WORLEY

The funeral Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, was one of impressive simplicity, in keeping with the life of the man whose memory was being honored.

Rev. Guy Cheek, of the U. B. Church, read "Lead Kindly Light," and the Pastor, Rev. J. A. Hoffman, offered prayer and read a sketch of the life of the deceased, written by Att'y. George Garrett, which is reproduced below. Members of the Highland county bar acted as pall bearers.

Judge Worley is survived by the widow and three children, Scott Worely, of South Bend, Ind., Mrs. A. C. Prouty and Mrs. Clifford Roads, both of Hillsboro.

William Butler was called to Springfield last week by the serious condition of his son, Harley and grandson, Robert, who are in a Springfield hospital in a critical condition from burns received when their home was destroyed by fire.

The business and social session of the Olive Branch Y. P. C. U. was held Thursday night of last week with Lester and Ralph Seaman. The social hour was spent in playing games and enjoying the excellent refreshments by the youthful hosts.

Hiram Puckett who had been in ill health for some time, passed away Wednesday at his home near Nace Corner. Funeral services conducted by Rev. Van B. Wright, of Peebles were held Friday at the Latham Church and interment in Latham cemetery. He is survived by his wife, one son, and one daughter, Mrs. Frank Nace, of this place.

Mrs. Catherine Morgan, of this place, was married to Mr. Matthews of Xenia, at the Court House on New Years day, and left for the home of her husband at Xenia. Best wishes go with her to her new home, is the wish of her many friends.

Nealy Shaffer, of Iowa, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Lewis Mock the past three weeks, returned home.

John Hall left last Wednesday for Hamilton to work at the carpenter trade.

A number from here attended the Farmers Institute at Danville last week.

Lewis Mock and wife visited relatives in Middletown last Wednesday and Thursday.

Clarence Martin and wife, of Danville, visited Roy Harris and wife Saturday.

Roy Euverard and family spent Sunday with Amos Hawk and wife, of East Danville.

W. E. Fawley and wife spent Monday with their son, Raymond and family, of Pricetown.

Mrs. Joe Gonia and Mrs. A. Q. Landess are on the sick list. Mrs. Jaseor Kier is improving.

Wm. Custer and wife, of Hillsboro, visited their son, Guy and family recently.

Richard Kittrell, 19, son of Mal Kittrell, who resides in the East End colored settlement is at the Hillsboro Hospital with a bullet wound through his abdomen, inflicted when a .25 calibre automatic pistol was discharged accidentally, Saturday night.

Kittrell was at the home of Dwight Trimble, a neighbor and the two were examining the fire arm. Kittrell told the physician that he was loading the gun, and was holding the muzzle against his stomach while he pushed the cartridges into the magazine. The safety was not on and the gun was discharged.

The steel jacketed bullet went almost through his body and lodged against the lower ribs, where it could easily be felt from his back.

Dr. J. C. Bohl was called, and he with Dr.'s W. B. Roads and J. D. McBride, operated on the lad at the Hospital, to determine whether the ball had penetrated any of the vital organs. Luckily the bullet missed all vital organs, and the steel jacketed bullet tended to leave a clean hole which, is expected to heal readily.

The funeral was held at the Leesburg Friends Church, conducted by Rev. Frank Milner and Rev. Alonzo Cloud. Music was furnished by a quartet composed of E. H. Browder, C. C. Redkey and I. E. Davis and N. I. McVey. The deceased is survived by the husband, two daughters and a brother.

Ruth, daughter of Arthur N. and Arminda Bunn, was born at Sugartree Ridge, Ohio, April 26th, 1892 and departed this life at Miami Hospital, Dayton, Ohio, January 4th, 1924, aged 31 yrs. 8 mo. and 8 days. She was one of a family of six children, Mrs. Dr. J. W. Irwin and Walter, of Dayton, Ohio, John, of Middletown, Ohio, Roy H. of Hillsboro, Ohio, and Belle, who died in 1900.

In young womanhood she identified herself with the Christian Church, in which she has given most faithful and untiring service, especially in all musical programs and Sabbath School work.

On July 2nd, 1921, she was united in marriage with C. N. Winkle, and their all too short but happy married life was spent in Hillsboro, Ohio, where by her splendid personality and pleasing manner, she won a host of friends, who with the immediate family are mourning her untimely end.

H.

Oh!
The evening, then the Dawning,
Oh! what a grand sight 'twill be.
And my there be so sad-longing
When I go across the sea.

My "House of Clay" is sweet to me;
But the one I see afar,
It is sweeter still. And trustingly
Its door is standing ajar.

These verses were the sentiment of the one who lies so peacefully in her narrow bed, after five years of invalidism. Sarah Amanda was the third daughter of Isaac and Mary Ann Patton Simpson, and was born near New Petersburg, April 17th, 1836 and her spirit took its flight on Friday morning Jan. 4, 1924, after one week's illness with pneumonia.

On Oct. 20th, 1852 she became the bride of Henry Z. Keelor, of Dallas, Ohio, and to them were given three daughters, the eldest dying in infancy. The father following a few years later and the other two daughters grew to womanhood and became the wives of Andrew McClure and Granville Moore. But they too have since joined their father and sister.

After about eight years of widowhood she and her daughter went to brighten the home of Philip A. Morgan, of Maysville, Ky., and his two little motherless children. To this union five children were born and 'twas a happy home for a number of years until the Grim Reaper began using "His sickle keen." Mrs. Josie A. Montgomery, then Gertrude, Isaac, husband and stepson, Kem, were laid low.

In her early girlhood, while attending the South Salem Academy, she united with the Presbyterian Church at that place; later transferring her membership to Hillsboro, Ohio, near her home. Then after becoming the wife of Mr. Morgan they both united with the M. E. Church at Dallas, Ohio. Tho' never very rugged she has lived 'way beyond the allotted time and borne all of her afflictions patiently and with true faith in her Redeemer. She was of a cheerful disposition and her home was always open to her many friends. She leaves two daughters, Ida, who has always lived with mother, and has been her faithful companion and nurse since the death of her husband in 1909 and Mrs. E. L. Hope, with whom she and Ida have been making their home for the past two years. She is also survived by eight grandchildren, nine great grandchildren and many more distant relatives and friends.

Death of Rev. J. H. Davis.

The following account of the death of Rev. J. H. Davis is taken from the Rainsboro correspondence. 'A sketch of his life written by by Mrs. W. T. Hodge, of Rainsboro, will be found elsewhere in this issue.'

Seldom has our entire community saddened more than it was last Thursday evening when it became known that Rev. J. H. Davis had passed away. He was born on a farm south of town in 1847 and with the exception of 22 years spent in the ministry in the Cincinnati conference had spent his entire life in this community where he had identified himself with every movement for the benefit and uplift of not only the church which he so faithfully served, but all his fellowmen. During his active ministry he served as pastor at Winchester, Butlerville, Rainsboro, Catawba, Brandt, North Hampton, Martinsville, Sugartree Ridge, Hillsboro circuit, Bethel, Leesburg, Laurel and Sinking Spring. He was twice married. His second wife, nine children and six grandchildren survive him. Funeral services were held in M. E. Church at 10:30 on Sunday morning, conducted by Rev. Fisher, assisted by Rev. Kanuth, of Bainbridge, and Rev. Frank Milner, of Leesburg. Interment at Marshall.

Clarence Groves dropped dead Wednesday afternoon shortly after two o'clock, while sitting talking to his sister, Mrs. Ed. L. Bennett, at her home on S. High street. Death resulted from heart trouble and came without warning.

While Mr. Groves had not been well for several months, he had been working most of the time and did not consider that there was anything seriously wrong with him, although he knew that he had heart trouble.

Shortly after dinner Wednesday he had gone to the home of his sister, Mrs. Bennett, who lives next door to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Groves with whom Clarence made his home. He was sitting in a chair in the living room talking to Mrs. Bennett; when suddenly his head fell back and he died almost instantly.

Mr. Groves was about 50 years of age and was an expert plasterer and brick layer. He was born and reared in Hillsboro and always made his home here, although he was frequently away for months at a time working in the nearby cities.

His death was a great shock to his family and the community. Arrangements for the funeral have not been made.

The keynote of her life was loving service. She held a birthright membership in the Friends Church to which faith she firmly adhered until "Death came stealing through the door When neighbor thinks no more of creed

The difference that stood before Vanishes in a kindly deed."

Albert W. Berend, Husband of Emma Louise McMullen, Died After Only Few Hours Illness

The friends and relatives of Mr. Berend and his wife were greatly shocked to learn of his death, which was so sudden and so sad. He had been at his place of business all day Saturday and came home about 9:30 that night. At that time he was apparently perfectly well. Uncle John volunteered in the Civil War when only 19 years of age. He was enrolled as a corporal in Company C. 13th Regiment Ohio Volunteers Cavalry on the 1st day of February, 1863, at Hillsboro by Captain Marley and was mustered in the United States service for the period of three years. He was mustered out at Amelia Court House, Virginia, in 1865. He was a member of the Robert Russell Post G. A. R.

Uncle John was a great sufferer, but all was done for him that loving hands could do. He was an honest man, a good neighbor and a kind father. He is survived by one son, Bert L., one daughter, Daisy F. and three sisters, Mrs. Amelia Brewer, of Lynchburg, Mrs. Rebecca Brown, of Cuba, and Mrs. Lida Troth, of St. Louis. His wife having passed away several years ago. He also leaves 8 grandchildren and many relatives and friends to mourn their loss.

Uncle John has passed into that Great Beyond from whence no traveler returns. We are again reminded that life is but a vapor, that we are all fast passing to the shores of Eternity. "Be ye ready for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of Man cometh."

Obituary.

Emily Jane Davis was born January 5th, 1859 at Rainsboro, Ohio. November 4th, 1880 she was united in marriage to J. H. McCord and to this union were born two sons, Otis L. and Otto D. and one daughter, Mary E.

In 1881 Mrs. McCord became a member of the Baptist church.

In 1918 the only daughter, Mrs. D. C. Copeland, moved to Peoria, Miss., and there in July of the same year, father and mother joined her later making their home near McComb, where Mrs. McCord died, January 10th, 1924. She was laid to rest in McComb cemetery beside her sister, Sarah Davis, who died in June 1923. Only one sister, Mrs. Ella Dewitt, of Chester, Ill., remains of a family of nine children who loved her.

Mrs. McCord lived a true Christian life, was a loving wife and a devoted mother, she made many friends in Mississippi, and during her illness of nine weeks every evidence of love and admiration was shown her—for to know he was to love her.

"God never loved me in so sweet a way before;

"This He alone who can such Blessings send;

And when His love would new expression find.

He brought her to me and He said, 'Behold a Friend!'

A tribute from a Friend.

Memoir.

Lynchburg loses a good, substantial, albeit, unassuming citizen in the passing of Arthur Gibson.

Almost his entire life was given to the farm in Union Township, near Willettsville, where he grew to manhood and where he was a real factor in all movements that looked to the betterment of community life.

After the death of his father, James Gibson, in 1920, Arthur, always a devoted son and brother, gave his whole life to the mother and sister who so recently preceded him into the great unknown.

Quitting the farm on account of his health, the three of them removed to Lynchburg in November 1920.

Always active, Arthur was restless with nothing to command his attention and he shortly purchased a coal and fence business which moved forward with every mark of success; but in the failing health intervened and retired from business.

The funeral of C. A. Clyborne was held at the late residence last Wednesday afternoon conducted by Rev. Kanuth, of Bainbridge. Interment was made at Greenfield. H.

MARSHALL

Jan. 28, 1924.

Dr. S. M. Mason and wife and daughter, Mora, were guests Sunday of T. B. Cunningham and wife, at Berryville.

The people of this community were saddened by the death of Rev. J. H. Davis at his home at Rainsboro on Thursday evening. Funeral services were held at Rainsboro Sunday morning at 10:30. A short service was held at the M. E. Church here at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Fisher, after which the body was laid to rest in the M. E. cemetery. The deceased was well known here where he had many friends. He will be greatly missed by all.

Memoir.

The joy of service to the loved ones at home was the chief delight of Miss Cora Ann Gibson, who passed from earthly scenes on December 20, 1923, after having removed to Lynchburg from the farm near Willettsville in November. With her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Gibson, and brother, Wm. Arthur, she had planned to live a life of retirement from farm activities and to continue to minister to the mother in her declining years, and to the brother who was an intense physical sufferer.

Miss Gibson in her early life taught school for a period and had aspirations for a professional career in the direction of large service to others, but these aspirations were cast aside because the home ties had stronger claims upon her, and the loved ones needed her ministry. Almost her entire life was passed on the farm and she was known and loved by all the country round about. Her life was a gentle one, unpretentious in the extreme, yet it was none the less a life of real genuine service. Her hope of ministering to the mother until the end was realized, but it became necessary to take the brother to a hospital and while there the spirit of the devoted sister took its flight.

Cora Ann Gibson, daughter of James and Elizabeth Gibson, was born near Yates City, Ill., April 19, 1861 and passed away on December 20, 1923, aged 62 years, 8 months and 1 day. Her parents brought her to this community when she was but a few months old, and here her life was lived. She was a member of the Presbyterian church in Hillsboro and had a great interest in its progress. A charter member of the Lynchburg Chapter O. E. S., she was as active in its affairs as circumstances permitted.

In her going away, the brothers who remain realize that a life of tenderness and devotion has gone out from among them. And the community keenly feels its loss. She was a good woman. What more can be said.

Mrs. Ruth Pulliam, a highly respected woman, died at the home of her son, Moody, Jan. 15. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Frank Faust, at the Christian Church Thursday afternoon. She was laid to rest in the Barker cemetery by the side of her husband, who preceded her four years ago. She leaves to mourn one son, Moody, and his wife, Alice, one grandson, Russell, and two sisters and one brother.

John Washington Moore. Born March 21, 1854. Died Feb. 2, 1924, aged 69 years, 10 months and 11 days. He obeyed the Gospel about the year 1895 and lived a devoted Christian life, and Mt. Zion has lost one of her most faithful members. His familiar figure as he so often walked across the field from his home to Mt. Zion we will see no more. His voice that always mingled with those who assembled for worship is now silent. The friendly greeting he had for us all and the chair he occupied is vacant. The word of God to him was supreme and his faith in the Savior was most beautiful and sublime. His speech was clean and seldom did he use unbecoming language. For many years he filled the office of Deacon very acceptably and was a noble pattern for those around him. To brother "Wash" (as we always addressed him) death had no terror, and he borrowed the garb of gentle sleep and has gone to his Heavenly home.

Mr. Parks was a son of the late, Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Parks. He was born and reared in Hillsboro. He left here when a young man and had been in Colorado for 10 years, living on a ranch. He was about 50 years old. He is survived by his wife and three brothers and two sisters.

She is a graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of music. She is a very bright attractive girl and Mr. Sanderson is indeed fortunate to win so charming a bride.

He is a veteran of the World War and shortly after the war went to Salt Lake City, where he has since made his home. He is a young man of energy and ability and by study and hard work has been steadily promoted by the company by which he is employed. He had an apartment furnished for his bride and they at once went to housekeeping.

The young people have been friends since childhood. While the news of their marriage will be a surprise to the general public their families have known of their intentions for months.

The hearty good wishes of a host of friends here will follow them to their home in the West.

Rev. J. H. Harris, pastor of the A. M. E. church, dropped dead in the church Friday night at the close of a meeting while talking to members of his congregation.

There had been held the regular Friday night class meeting and following it a meeting of the official board of the church was held. The meeting had been closed and the pastor and a number of the members of the official board were standing in the aisle talking. Suddenly Rev. Harris pitched forward and fell to the floor. He died almost instantly.

The excitement caused by the tragic death can be imagined. Mr. Harris had been a sufferer for years with heart trouble but had been apparently well Friday night and had shown no signs of illness until his sudden attack.

The body was taken to Franklin Sunday and burial was made there Tuesday. He is survived by his wife and several children. He was 57 years of age.

In the afternoon the happy couple motored to the beautiful country home of the bride near Buford where a two course wedding dinner was served at 6 o'clock. On Saturday night they were given an old time serenade by the young people of the community.

The bride is a charming lady of rare accomplishments and talents.

The groom is a man of high standing in his community and is a veterinarian by profession.

They were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents.

MRS. ANN KIRBY SMITH

Just as dusk had fallen, Thursday evening, February 7, the spirit of Mrs. Ann Woodrow Smith, oldest native of Hillsboro, floated out on the eternal tide.

Mrs. Smith would have been 99 years of age, November 15, 1924 and from the vantage point of her great age, had watched the development of Hillsboro and Highland county, and had been a part of it to a greater extent than any other citizen.

She was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jacob Kirby, the former having been a practicing physician in Hillsboro for more than 50 years. She was born in a residence which stood on what is now the site of Feibel Bros. store.

It is said of her that she inherited from her father his singular disposition to help the suffering with utter generosity, a trait that enriched his life with friendships, but added but little to his material possessions. This characteristic was manifested in Mrs. Smith by her willingness to go into the homes of hundreds of people, during sickness, there to assume the duties of nurse, housekeeper and governess for the children, without thought of reward.

Following her marriage, her family and her church were her abiding interests. She was active in the Presbyterian Church, and was a charter member and president for twenty years of the Missionary Society of that body.

During the last two years, she failed rapidly, although the end came after but a week of illness.

Four children survive: Kirby and Walter Smith, and Mrs. Lillie S. Quinn, of Hillsboro; and Charles, of Kansas City. A grandchild, Mrs. Herbert Allan Ottewill of London, England, survives, with her two children, the only great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Ancil R. Thomas died Friday morning at the Hillsboro Hospital, four-thirty, following an operation for appendicitis, the day previous. While the operation was a serious one, it was complicated by other disabilities which combined brought death.

Death's blight on those in middle life, always adds to sorrow, and Mrs. Thomas was possessed of so happy a disposition that her loss is rendered the more acute to her family and wide circle of friendships.

She was 33 years of age, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boosveld, now of Cincinnati. Most of her life, however, was spent in Lynchburg, where her father was chief engineer of the Frieberg & Workum Distillery.

Her marriage to Capt. A. R. Thomas was the culmination of a pretty war romance, coming just before her husband left with his company for France. Friends often commented upon their happy married life since his return, which was blessed by a little daughter, Betty Jane, now past two years of age.

Besides the parents three sisters survive: Mrs. Charles Hopkins, Lynchburg; Mrs. Anna Mueller, Cincinnati, and Miss Christine, who makes her home with her parents.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at the Methodist Church, where Mrs. Thomas was a devoted member. It was conducted by the Revs. Hoffman Cheek and McAdow.

The entire community was enveloped with grief, Saturday afternoon, when a phone message stated that Uhl, 23 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murdock, had accidentally shot himself, from which he passed away a short time afterwards. He and his mother, who live a mile or so from town, had spent the afternoon here. On reaching home, Uhl took his automatic rifle and went out to shoot at birds. He returned to the house, gathered together the articles for cleaning the gun. The mother left at this time to gather the eggs, and when she returned to the house sometime later, a horrible spectacle met her eyes. Her son was lying on the floor in a pool of blood with a bullet hole in his forehead. Altho shocked and stunned at the sight, she managed to phone for help and the home was soon full of helpful hands. Medical aid was summoned, but to no avail. He lived for two hours but never regained consciousness. Uhl was a boy of fine traits, cheerful disposition and had scores of friends. He will be greatly missed and to the sorrowing parents, the sister, Mrs. Eugene Cowman, and brother, Theo. We extend our greatest sympathy and especially to the heartbroken mother, whose burden of grief seems unbearable. Being the only child at home, he was depended upon and proved his capability by his ever thoughtfulness of her, who was a companion to him in every way. Funeral services were held at the home Monday at 1 o'clock and burial made at Greenfield.

MISS NAN MURPHY

The remains of Miss Nan Murphy, aged resident of Connorsville, Ind., was brought to Hillsboro, Monday for burial in the Hillsboro cemetery. Miss Murphy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Murphy, was born and reared in the neighborhood of New Market. She was a woman of considerable attainments, having been educated in the Hillsboro Woman's College.

For the past sixteen years she has made her home with her niece, Mrs. Fannie Nevin. She has been invalided for several months. Mrs. Nevin and daughter, Helen, Dr. Samuel Murphy, a nephew of the deceased, and his mother, Mrs. Daubenspeck, accompanied the body here.

The committal service was in charge of Rev. Hoffman, of the Methodist church.

John Eubanks, of near Highland, who was arrested Monday of last week on a charge of selling liquor, asked for Mayor Riber Monday, to enter his plea of guilty, as charged. The Mayor fined him $2,000 and the costs, the maximum for a second offense, and because of Eubanks' plea of guilty, making a trial unnecessary, remitted $500 of the fine.

Eubanks said he was unable to pay the fine, and was committed to jail. It is stated that he has property sufficient to pay the fine, including a farm, unencumbered worth at least $4000. He told Mayor Riber that he would not encumber this, as to do so would jeopardize the future of his wife, and family. Mayor Riber advised him to pay the fine, as he could make far more money during the time it would take him to lay it out in jail, if he had his freedom.

Prosecutor Donald S. Durnell stated in connection with the case, that the County Commissioners do not have the authority in liquor cases to grant a prisoner freedom, and that any remittance of a sentence must come from the court where the sentence was issued.

Eubanks at first strenuously denied his guilt. He told Mayor Riber that he had had no liquor on his place for more than two years. The Mayor however, confronted him with some evidence he had collected on the matter, and he weakened. On Saturday Eubank's brother and family came to Hillsboro with the news that the incarcerated's mother had died at the home of her son in Indiana. The visit of his family and the sad news brought had a powerful effect upon the man and it was necessary to call a physician Sunday, so distressed and nervous did he become.

Mrs. Eubank's funeral was held Sunday at the church at Centerville, Clinton county. The accused was permitted to attend, with his family. He was accompanied by Patrolman Chris. Rockel and Oscar Fegham.

On Monday he was in a penitent mood, and sent for the Mayor, who took his case under advisement and then passed sentence.

EDWARD L. BOARDMAN

Edward L., son of the late J. L. Boardman, editor and proprietor of The Highland News for more than thirty years, died at his home in Los Angeles, California, on Sunday, Feb. 10th, after a lingering illness of two years.

He was born and reared in Hillsboro, and on leaving school, held the position of local editor on his father's paper and added to its reputation as one of the best weekly journals in Southern Ohio. Desirous of a wider field, Mr. Boardman accepted a Federal position in Washington D. C., where his faithfulness won him promotion and he was later appointed traveling Pension Agent for Dakota. This was an adventurous experience, but several years of such a strenuous life proved enough and he resigned settling in the North-west, with which he was completely charmed.

He became one of the leading journalists of Montana and married there. The high altitude not agreeing with his wife, he removed to Washington State and was very successful in newspaper work. His business ability attracted the notice of the late Gov. Cosgrave, (himself an Ohioan) and he honored him with the appointment of Public Printer a position of trust and responsibility. In later years he was offered a place on the editorial staff of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, one of the leading dailies on the Pacific coast and sustained his reputation as a journalist. Ill health forced his retirement and he settled in Los Angeles, where he had bought a home lured by the mild climate.

Mr. Boardman is survived by his wife, two married daughters and a daughter and son at home. He will be remembered by many of our older residents as a great social favorite here in his youth.

He chose the simple unpretentious life and had much joy in living it.

Nothing pleased him more than the opportunity of entertaining his friends and acquaintances. Henry was well liked by all.

It is vain to try with language to glaze or gild a grief and while we think it is almost unbearable, let us hope that time will set all things right and that from day to day our grief will be gradually effaced and his name be a sacred memory.

Copeland--West.

Walter J. Copeland and Miss Irene Kathryn West were married Saturday evening at seven o'clock by Rev. J. Hubbard Morton at his residence, Miss Pauline West, a twin sister of the bride, and D. P. Mr. Copeland has lived in Hillsboro only a few months, coming here from Geneva, N. Y., to accept a position with the Peoples Press. He has made many friends since coming to Hillsboro and is a mighty nice fellow.

Just as the sun was rising on a new day, the spirit of Minnie Boosveld Thomas took its flight from earth to the skies.

Born in Cincinnati, Ohio, August 9, 1890, she was 33 years, 5 months and 29 days of age.

When a small child, she with her parents moved to Lynchburg, Ohio, where in childhood and young womanhood she made a place for herself in the hearts of all with whom she mingled.

She was wedded to Captain Ancil Thomas June 13, 1918, he at that time being in the service of his country.

This union was blessed with a daughter, Betty Jane, who at the tender age of three years is left without a mother's love and care.

DEATH OF YOUNG DENTIST

Dr. Turner leaves a wife, who was formerly Miss Genevieve Carlisle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beeson Carlisle, former residents of this county. His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. M. Q. Mr. Cochran first found the team and wagon, which were fastened on a tree, the wagon being loaded. The team had become impatient at the long delay of their master, and their actions were responsible for the discovery at the time.

Searching further, Mr. Cochran discovered the body of Mr. Shriver. He had fallen prone on his back, hands folded, as if in sleep. Mr. Cochran called a neighbor, Furch Stratton, and they removed the body and summoned Dr. Changy, who stated that Mr. Shriver had been dead about two hours.

Obituary.

Ann Woodrow, daughter of Dr. Jacob and Rachel Woodrow Kirby, was born into the earth life Nov. 15, 1925, at the home of her parents on W. Main street, Hillsboro, Ohio, the site of the old Kirby homestead being now occupied by the Feibel Brother's store, and departed this life Feb'y. 7, 1924 at her home on E. Main street but two blocks from her birthplace, being the oldest native born citizen at this time.

Bright, cheerful, unselfish she had a rarely happy childhood, not being separated from her family, even for her school days as she was educated in the private schools of the village, chiefly under the guidance of that brilliant and revered teacher, Dr. Joseph McDowell Matthews, being a member of the first class graduated by him from the old Oakland Seminary.

Very early in life she united with the Presbyterian church under the ministry of Rev. Samuel Steele, being a faithful attendant of all services possible, until the weaknesses of old age prevented. A true Christian in the highest and broadest sense, she was indeed a constant inspiration for all who came in contact with her. A charter member of the Woman's Missionary Society of her loved church she was always present at its meetings being president for a long term of years and president emeritus after failing strength kept her from active work.

Open and broad minded she kept posted upon all public matters and discussed them fully and fairly, as she did all church activities with the interest and acumen of a scholarly man.

A member of the Sarah L. Richards Altruistic Society, she gave great benefit and pleasure by her reminiscence talks of Hillsboro's early days, her memory being most accurate and her mind discriminating as to the value of the facts most worthwhile. These traits were inherited and shown by others of her family, notably by the late president, Woodrow Wilson, a cousin, who preceded her in death such a brief time.

April 27, 1848 she was married to Dr. William Robinson Smith, of Springfield, Ohio, at the home of her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Woodrow, in the Woodrow House, which stood on the present site of the O. N. G. Armory, leaving by stage coach for a short bridal trip after which they established their home in Springfield, Ohio, where they remained for two years, their oldest son, Kirby, being born there. But the lure of the dear old home ties brought them to Hillsboro to live, where Dr. Smith engaged in business until his death March 1, 1900. Thus Mrs. Smith had the unusual experience of spending ninety-six of her ninety-eight years within a radius of two city blocks and seeing the little village of her birth develop into the delightful little city that it is now. She loved to repeat the story of its development; of its first railroad train; advent of the automobile; the airplane; the improvement of buildings and streets; of its schools and churches, of all the great changes she had seen.

Truly she was a remarkable woman being fully statured in all the characteristic that make life worth living for self and others; charitable, almost to a fault, she ever had an excuse for the weak and erring; a helping hand ever extended where needed, interested in all that was going on it was a pleasure to tell her of the occurrences from day to day among those she knew and loved; above and over all, she was a true Christian every hour having an abiding and unquestioning faith in and reliance upon the eternal love and guidance of the great All-Father.

Her father, Dr. Kirby, the leading physician of the time, had no assistants nor trained nurses to aid him but his need was cheerfully met by his loyal daughter, Ann, in her always capable way. Thus many mothers and young babes especially, owe their lives to her sympathetic care and wisdom.

Three sons, one daughter, one granddaughter, and two great grandchildren are left to remember her helpful life and revere her memory:—Kirby and Walter Galloway, Hillsboro; Dr. Charles Buchanan, Kansas City, Mo.; Little Woodrow, widow of Hamilton Quinn, Hillsboro; Mrs. Herbert Allan Ottewill, husband and two children, Elizabeth Quinn, and Walter Kirby, London, England.

Obituary.

Charles Albert, son of Charles D. and Anna M. Clyborn, was born near Bainbridge, Ross county, Ohio, Sept. 6, 1853 and departed this life at his home near Rainsboro, Ohio, Jan. 21st, 1924, aged 70 years, 4 months and 15 days. He spent all his life except a short time in Missouri in the vicinity of his departure.

He was of a family of seven child-highly respected citizen. He was married to Mary M. Bruce Dec. 8th, 1887, who with Ben Montgomery, a boy taken into their home in 1897 at six years of age, is left to mourn their loss.

He was of a family of seven children, three sons and four daughters all of whom but one son and one daughter have passed to their reward, James, of West Liberty, and Mrs. Lucy Sylvester, of Washington, C. H. He quietly pursued the vocation of farming and the daily acts of life were those of an honest upright man.

He was ever ready to extend a helping hand in time of need. Loving hands did every thing to prolong his life but the Lord's will be done and he fell quietly asleep to awake on the other shore.

Thus a good man has passed
Out of the darkness and shadows of night,

Out of life's ills into the light
Out of the parting and sorrow
Into a world the Eternal Tomorrow.

Rotroff, of Sugartree Ridge, and to this union were born ten children. Two having preceded him to that better land. Lucy Lee on Dec. 22, 1915, at the age of sixteen, and an infant daughter in 1910.

Also nine grandchildren, who with his wife are left grief-stricken at the loss of one so near and dear to them.

He has been a member of Sugartree Ridge M. E. Church for a number of years, and has lived a course his boys need not be afraid to follow.

On the afternoon of Feb. 15th, 1924 his spirit passed out with the last light of day, as a ship is carried by the tide out to sea.

Mr. Shriver was a quiet, unassuming man with an unexcelled devotion for his family. Those who came to him found a friend, who was sympathetic with their misfortunes and true to their trusts. Of him it can truly be said that he "built his house by the side of the road and was a friend to man."

If all who claim a friendship with him who sleeps before us were to bring to his bier a single bud "he would sleep to-night beneath a wilderness of flowers."

Obituary.

"Calm as a child to slumber soothed,
As if an angel's hand had smoothed—
The still white features into rest,
Silent and cold without a breath
To stir the drapery on her breast.
Pain with its keen and poisoned fang
The horror of the mortal pang.
The suffering look her brow had worn,
The fear and all the anguish gone—
She slept at last in death."

Such was the passing of all that was mortal February 15th, 1924, of Margaret Jane, fourth child of Leander and Elizabeth Carter, who was born March 13th, 1848. Reared in a Christian home it was but natural that she at an early age should give her heart into the keeping of the One who said, "Come unto me and I will give you rest." From Louisville, Ohio, where her membership was first recorded it was transferred to the Hillsboro M. E. Church where it remained until her death. She was a faithful member of not only the Church but the Woman's Home Missionary Society as well, attending all services as long as her health would permit. For a number of years she has been confined to her home but the "book of books" was her constant companion, from which she derived strength and comfort.

Sept. 10th, 1867 she was happily married to Lacy King, who but a few short months ago answered the summons from above. Seven children were given to this union, all of whom survive to mourn the loss of a saintly mother. She was also blest with ten grandchildren, and five great grandchildren.

MEMOIR

Whereas, It has pleased the Heavenly Father to remove from our midst, Eliza Jane Wilkin. The call came to her and she left behind a light shining on a world of darkness. Heeding the call, she slipped into the Great Beyond. Death makes us stop and ponder, and stays our hurried feet, but the design will not be completed until in the distant future of Eternity. Such was the earthly life of Grandma Screechfield, in the early morning hour of Feb. 25, 1924. As the news flashed through our little village, our one thought was of our great loss; for she was a real friend and neighbor.

She was born February 17, 1845, and departed this life February 25, 1924, aged 78 years, 7 months and 8 days.

She united with the M. E. Church in early life. In later years she removed her membership to the C. U. Church at Allensburg.

She was united in marriage to Thomas J. Screechfield, October 6, 1867. To this union were born seven children, Lewis, Montgomery, of Wilmington, Peter Benjamin, Edgar William, Calvin Curtis, of Dayton, Martha Francis, Etta Elizabeth, of Allensburg, and little Mary who preceded her to that Great Beyond.

The fifty-one years of her married life were happily spent in rearing her family and doing the duties of a Christian woman and a good neighbor. This union was broken six years ago, when her companion departed this life. Since that time she has been in the care of her daughter, Mrs. Etta Claibourn.

Besides her immediate family she leaves twenty-two grandchildren, nine great grandchildren, one sister and a host of friends to mourn the loss of her departure.

MRS. BEN KNOTTS

Mrs. Ben Knotts, aged 68 years, passed away Sunday morning at her home in Westville. A complication of intestinal disorders was the cause of her death.

Mrs. Knotts was formerly Sadi Ashmore and a resident of Highland county, until about fifteen years ago. She is survived by her husband, six sons, three daughters and one brother, Asa Ashmore, of Iowa.

The funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the home of the deceased and interment was made in the Westville cemetery.

The following relatives went from here to attend the funeral: Mrs. Charles Ashmore and son, Frank, daughter, Mrs. Don Main of Marshall.

John, son of James and Mahala Legg Satterfield, was born in Adams county, Ohio, April 10, 1850, and departed this life at his late residence north of Belfast, Ohio, February 10, 1924, aged 73 years and 10 months. He was one of a family of ten children, all but one brother, Noble, having preceded him to the Vast Beyond.

At the age of nineteen, he was united in marriage with Rachel Beavers of Pickaway county, Ohio, where they resided for a number of years. To this union three children were born, two dying in infancy and Maggie in 1892, at the age of twenty. After the loss of his companion, he came to Jackson township, Highland county, Ohio, where he has since lived. On December 14th, 1882, he was united in marriage with Sarah Elizabeth Gall. To this union three sons, Harry V., Homer F., and William N., were born. The departed is survived by the widow, one brother, three sons, one grandson, Harry Nelson, and a host of relatives and friends.

When quite a young man he identified himself with the Christian Union Church at Pleasant of which he has been a most loyal and useful member.

It has been the privilege and good pleasure of the writer of this sketch to have known Mr. Satterfield from childhood and in paying this tribute to his memory, speaks in no uncertain terms.

He was a good man, a man of honor and integrity, whose horizon did not merely encircle his own fireside but with that broader vision, his kindness and generosity went out to his fellowmen about him and in so doing he won for himself a legion of friends, who will miss his warm friendly greeting and generous disposition.

In his going, the church loses a loyal supporter, the family a devoted father and companion, the community a broad minded and sympathetic neighbor and the county one of its most loyal and patriotic citizens.

While he has gone from mortal vision forever, yet he is not dead. As the stars go from our sight only to appear on another horizon, so this good man has passed from our view, through the shadows, on into the ethereal hue of life eternal.

Sarah Ellen McConnaughey, daughter of William and Sarah McConnaughey, was born near New Market, Ohio, July 29, 1839.

Like the sun sinking slowly below the horizon, leaving the world in darkness, so went out her life, on the morning of Feb. 22, 1924, having reached the age of 84 years, 6 months and 24 days.

She was united in marriage with Absalom Fouch, Feb. 26, 1857, and this wonderfully happy union was not broken until the death of Mr. Fouch, on August 15, 1923. They had been married nearly 67 years.

To this union were born five children: G. H. Fouch, of Wilmington, N. P. Fouch, of Leesburg, Mrs. Duncan, of Allensburg, Mrs. Belle Frost, of Allensburg, and Lydia Jane, who died in 1885.

There are fourteen grandchildren, twenty great grandchildren, and three great, great grandchildren.

She united with the Baptist Church at New Market in 1859, from which church she removed her membership to the C. U. Church, at Allensburg in 1876. In this church, she taught one S. S. Class for a period of 35 years.

She was one of a family of ten children, all of whom preceded her to the Great Beyond, except Mrs. Mary Steele, of Belfast.

Mrs. Fouch was a splendid example of a real Christian character. To know her was to love her. So strong was her faith in right ground in her nature, that she refused to tolerate wrong in any light.

Such a life made a deep impression on her children, and they learned that to be true-hearted and great minded was so great a part of the character of a man or a woman, that to be without it, was a great handicap in the race of life.

Her influence has left an impression on all who knew her. She was a good and kind mother, and all she had, and all she was, she gave to her children.

She treated her children...

Obituary.

"Our frail bodies have their day, They have their day and cease to be. They are but broken lights of thee, And thou, O Lord, art more than they. We have but faith; we cannot see, For knowledge is of things we see, And yet we trust, it comes from thee, A beam in darkness; let it grow."

Richard Roush, son of Abraham and Catherine Roush, was born near Hoaglands Crossing, January 16th, 1863. On Tuesday, February 26th, 1924, just as the morning light was breaking, he was called to his eternal home, at the age of 61 years, 1 month and 10 days. Early in life he united with the Reform Church at Danville, Ohio, and to this church he has always been devotedly attached and has never severed his membership from his home congregation.

On January 19th, 1884 he was united in marriage to Elizabeth E. Burton, who with one brother, one sister and a half sister, together with a host of relatives and friends are left to mourn his passing.

To this union no children were born but a brother's son, Charles C. Roush was taken into their home when but a mere child, and among these three there developed ties of love and affection almost equalling that of parents and son. He with his wife, are here today to help bear the sorrow of these loved ones.

COMMITTED SUICIDE

William Feike, hardware merchant of Sardiia, ended his life Tuesday of last week by hanging himself from a rafter in the hay loft at his residence. The family and friends are unable to assign any motive which might have been responsible for the act, as he had been in the best of spirits. On the morning of his feat he arose at the usual time, built the fires and left the house, presumably for the store. When he did not come to breakfast his wife started a search and two hours later the body was discovered. He had tied a hitch rope about his neck, attached the other end to a rafter, mounted a step ladder and jumped off.

Obituary.

Mary Ann Spargur, daughter of Allen and Elizabeth Spargur, was born January 1, 1842 and died March 2, 1924. Aged 82 years, 2 months and 1 day.

All of her life with the exception of four years was spent in or near the village of Rainsboro. During the four score she has watched the development of the community from the primitive days of the pioneer with crude methods of farming, limited advantages of education, laborious ways of travel, to the present up-to-date systems of agriculture, education and transportation.

Hers was a progressive mind. She kept in touch with modern improvements and was able to discuss intelligently the latest developments in the world of science.

While yet in her early teens she united with the Universalist church under the preaching of Rev. S. F. Carleton and was faithful to the teachings and precepts of that denomination during the remainder of her life. For a number of years she has been unable to attend the services of the Church but kept in touch with its activities through its literature of which she was an ardent reader.

On Dec. 5, 1861 she became the bride of Elisha Beavers and they went to Pickaway County to found their new home. After four years in that locality they decided to return to this place and took up their abode in the old log house that stood in the same year where the present home now stands.

Seven children were born to this union, 4 boys and 3 girls, and although the family now numbered 9, there was always room and a hearty welcome for the wayfarer or the unfortunate who sought shelter beneath their roof. It can truly be said they "lived in the house by the side of the road and were a friend to man."

At one time she and her worthy husband received a family of eight orphan children into their home and kept them for several months until homes could be provided for them in other families.

She was a model mother, ruling her children by example and gentle words, always striving to instill in their minds the necessity of loving obedience and right living. How truly they loved her has been proved by their care and devotion during her declining years. She often remarked that neither of them ever gave her an unkind word and of this fact she was extremely proud.

She was a born peacemaker and under her kindly suggestions and words of counsel, differences seemed to melt away and foes become friends again.

The death of her daughter, Stella, at the age of twenty years, was a sad blow to her mother heart. Scarcely had she recovered from this when her companion's health began to fail and he was taken from her in 1914. Three years later, Niscea, the youngest daughter was suddenly stricken and passed away. For a time this seemed to crush her almost beyond endurance but she remembered the ones who were spared and the duty she owed to them, so she courageously took up the thread of life again and made her own life happy in her service to others.

Her brother and sister meant much to her and she often expressed the wish that they might be spared as long as she lived. This wish was granted and she was the first to go.

Words seem empty at a time like this for mere words could not express what she meant to this community as a friend, neighbor and citizen.

On every hand we hear the expression, "she was one of the best women I ever knew."

She has been a comfort and inspiration to every one with whom she came in contact but her work on earth is done and her tired hands are folded at rest.

"Such beautiful, beautiful hands

They are neither white nor small
And you I know would scarcely think
That they were fair at all"

"But, O, beyond the shadow land

Where all is bright and fair
We know, full well, those dear old hands
Will palms of victory bear."

Her last sickness was of two months duration and, although she suffered much, she was sweet and patient to the last. Always thinking of the comfort of others.

When she realized the end was approaching she said to the friends by her bedside, "I would like to stay" but her voice failed and she could say no more.

What a volume in those few words, what a comfort to know she was loath to leave yet willing to do the father's bidding. But human skill could do no more and at 9 o'clock on Sunday morning March 2nd, 1924, her weary spirit winged its flight to be forever at rest.

Obituary.

Mary Jane Holcomb, daughter of Robert and Mary Jane Holcomb, was born in Scott county, Indiana, Nov. 8, 1848 and departed this life Feb. 20, 1924, aged 75 years, 3 months and 12 days.

She was married to Andrew Jackson Gray Nov. 16, 1871. To this union were born ten children all living except one son, who died in infancy. These with seven grandchildren are left to mourn the loss, her husband having preceded her in death sixteen years ago.

When fifteen years of age she joined the Methodist church and lived a consistent Christian life.

She was a member of a large family, only one sister, Mrs. Cynthia Ann Ranney, of Indiana, remaining.

She came to Ohio when six years of age and has spent the greater part of her life in this community, where she was loved and respected by all.

Although she has been in failing health for many years she still remained active in her household affairs, Monday morning while about these duties she fell receiving injuries which two days later resulted in her death. The children were summoned but it was soon seen her earthly pilgrimage would soon end and all that loving hands could do availed nothing and without a struggle she peacefully and quietly passed away and today as we mourn her loss we have the consciousness that our loss is her gain and that she has found rest in her eternal home. She was a kind and loving mother as the loyalty of her children will attest. She took great comfort in the one son and daughter who remained with her and those who were away never lost an opportunity to visit her and to try to fill her life with pleasure.

Mrs. S. H. Davis received word of the death of her sister, Mrs. Mary Long Butters, of Whiting, Kansas. Three other sisters, Mrs. Will Paley, Mrs. Jessie Rhodes, Mrs. Annie Robinson, of Hillsboro and a brother, John Long of New Vienna, survive her.

He entered our local high school in 1908, graduated in the class of 1912.

Entered the Dental College, Cincinnati, Ohio, in the fall of 1916 graduating in June 1919.

He was joined in marriage with Miss Genevieve Carlisle, the only daughter of Beeson and Stella Carlisle at Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 28, 1919.

Was mustered into service in the Medical Reserve Corps, Cincinnati, Ohio, in Dec. 1917 and honorably discharged from service in Dec. 1918. Was a member of Xsi Psi Phi fraternity in good standing.

He practiced his profession in Cincinnati and Youngstown for a short period of time before he was compelled by illness to retire from active service. In March 1920 he was stricken with pneumonia from which he never fully recovered.

For nearly four years he put up a brave fight for the complete recovery of his health. During this period he was always cheerful and hopeful trying to make others bright and cheery. His thought was constantly for the well fare of those about him. Even to the last hours of life, his uppermost thought was for those who tenderly ministered to his every need.

On Tuesday night at 9:30 o'clock his tired spirit went home to claim the rest that belonged to the people of God, of God.

Those who tarry in the valley and shadow are his wife and companion; father, mother, two brothers, Dr. Wilbur R., of Cincinnati, Ohio, Prof. Marvin E., of Portland, Oregon, one sister, Mrs. T. F. Edwards, of Cincinnati, Ohio and a large number of friends who long for the touch of a vanished hand and the sound of a voice that is stilled.

Obituary.

James Horace Berryman, son of Johnathan Berryman, was born Jan. 17, 1849 and passed to his heavenly home at 11:30 p. m., March 25, 1924, aged 75 years, 2 months and 8 days. Father, mother, one daughter, a brother and half-sister having preceded him to that better home above.

He was married to Miss Elizabeth Rebecca Webster Aug. 13, 1871. To this union were born six daughters, Mesdames Margaret Pfister, of Lynchburg, Olive Holmes, of Columbus, Lillian Hogsett, of Hillsboro, Jane Cook, of St. Petersburg, Fla., Lulu West, of Middletown and Georgianna, who passed away April 4, 1903. His companion, five daughters, seven grandchildren and five great grandchildren being left to continue the journey without husband and father, who was their happiness and joy.

He united with the M. E. Church at the age of 17 and these many years has been a faithful Christian. He was also a member of the Odd Fellows Lodge at Belfast, having lived in that vicinity the great part of his life; the latter years in Hillsboro and the last two years a resident of Lynchburg.

He was a kind loving husband and father, a loyal neighbor and friend. He was loved by all who knew him because of his unselfish spirit. He felt it his duty to always help others who were less, fortunate than himself. Lending a helping hand giving a kind word and cheery smile to all. At the time he was stricken his Bible and Sunday School journal lay at his side where he had finished his lesson and was making other preparations for the Sabbath.

The hand of disease fell upon him and although every thing that loving hearts could devise, loving hands find to do the Master said "Well done; enter into thy reward" and like a tired child Father went home to rest. How we shall miss him. His life was full of good deeds that endeared him to the hearts of those left behind.

We can not say and we will not say. That he is dead, he is just away.

With cheery smile and a wave of the hand.

He has entered into a brighter land.

And left us dreaming how very fair

It needs must be since he lingers there

And you. Oh, you who the wildest yearn

For the old time step and the glad return.

Think of him, fareing on as dear. In the Love of there, as the love of here.

Think of him still as the same we say,

He is not dead. He is just away.

Obituary.

Lucy, daughter of Orland and Mollie Gossett, was born near East Danville, Ohio, on September 24, 1908; departed this life March 27, 1924, aged 15 years, 5 months and 27 days. At the age of 11 years under the preaching of Bro. Allemon, she accepted her Saviour on the terms of the gospel and united with the Church of Christ at Union.

Her father, mother, three sisters and one brother and a host of friends feel the loss of a loved one. One sister has gone on before her.

She was preparing to enter High School last year when her health failed. None could think of the suffering she endured during the past year, yet scarceley would she utter a murmur, always looking forward to the time when she would get well she she could go back to her Church and Sunday School that she loved so well. All that love, kindness and medical skill could do was bestowed that she might be again restored to health. But God called and she was ready to go. Her Sunday School class will miss her so much. When her teacher calls the roll no one will answer but up in Heaven there will be rejoicing. There she will answer "present" and be with Jesus forever. But in no place will she be missed as much as in her home and in the home of Grandmother Pulliam, where she spent many happy days.

Only father, mother, brother, sisters and grandmother know what it means to give up one who was so dear to them. They will never see her smiling face and hear her merry laugh again. But when the Master calls them, one by one, they will see little Lucy standing on the other shore and beckoning for them to come home.

Madge Dawson, a 10 year old girl, was burned to death Thursday night when the house on the farm of T. H. McClure, three miles east of Sinking Spring was burned. Only a few charred bones of the little girl were found in the ashes. The house was occupied by Ot. Horn and the little girl was the daughter of his housekeeper.

Mr. Horn did not get home until late Thursday night and still had his feeding to do. Before going to do his feeding he built up the fire in the stove. He and Mrs. Dawson then went to the barn to do the feeding. The little girl and a younger brother were upstairs in bed.

While at the barn Mr. Horn saw that the house was on fire and rushed to it. He got the little boy out. He then climbed to the window of the little girl and called to her to come to him. She said that she could not and the fire was so hot that he could not enter. He then went to another window of the room and opened it but the flames burst out and drove him away.

Helpless Mr. Horn and the distracted mother had to stand and watch the house burn, knowing that the little girl was being consumed in the flames. As soon as they could after the house was burned, search was made through the ashes and a few charred bones of the child were found. These were buried in Mt. Zion cemetery.

Mr. Horn and the woman were at the barn doing the feeding when he noticed that the house was afire. He was able to save a younger boy, but when he tried to get to a window and rescue the girl, the fire cut off the approach. Many years ago "Toothpick" Ben Colvin was a well-known character around Hillsboro. He was a professional gambler of the old days and became known throughout the United States. He was an uncle of the late Ed Colvin, of this city, and was born in the Pricetown neighborhood. Many good stories are told about him. The Cincinnati Times Star is running a series of feature articles, entitled, "Night Life on Old Vine Street." Among the stories run Saturday was the following one about "Toothpick" Ben:

"There are still floating along Vine street some good stories about 'Toothpick' Ben. Ben if the world must know, was a product of Hillsboro, O., and because of his youthful predilection for fishing for bullheads instead of mastering the three R's he did not acquire an education, but he was one of those natural-born boozooms, who get along through their ability to make the other guy split with them. Once Ben was staying at a hotel and he asked the clerk for the key to his room. The clerk asked him what the number of his room was, and Ben couldn't tell him only in this way: 'The number is win, lose, win. That meant 101, as Ben figured it, and he got his key. Once Ben took a running jump into a Vine street faro game, and when he quit he was a big winner. Several of the sports induced Ben to become their host at the St. Nicholas. They described the seductive wonders of a rum omelette. Ben had never seen one served or eaten. Ben did not relish the omelette. When he paid the bill he remarked, 'You fellahs can have your old rum omelettes if you want them, but I want to declare myself right now that no more of old Ben's money is going for bonfires.' Some say that Ben's last name was Sylvester and others assert that it was Colvin, but be that as it may, he was so expert in riffling a pack of cards that he could shuffle them in like a faro dealer butts them in.

Noble Land Sold.

He had a mortgage of over $5,000 on the land. Mr. Noble bought the land in 1920, paying $8,450 for it. This will give some idea of how land values have gone down in the last few years. On August 11th, 1898, Mr. Lemon was united in marriage to Mary Catherine Lemon, who with one daughter, Anna B. (Mrs. Frank R. Ambrose, of Columbus) survive him. Another daughter, Fannie, (Mrs. Frank A. Hill) passed away last September.

With the exception of a short time in young manhood, when he resided in the state of Illinois, Mr. Lemon spent his entire life in Hillsboro. During practically all of this time he was engaged in the monument business, as owner and proprietor, retiring about three years ago when in failing health.

As a business man he was a success, and was so recognized. In this he made for himself a most commendable reputation, as an industrious honest and upright man in his dealings with his fellow man. He was generally recognized as a man of firm convictions and fixed determination, and one who never compromised those convictions with what he believed to be wrong. However, he willingly permitted others to stand for their own opinions without disturbing their friendship.

In business and socially, he possessed a likeable personality, which was exceedingly marked in his associations and conduct with children. He exacted of children reasonably good behavior, but he did this in a way and manner that drew them to him as friends and in high regard. But few persons in his position enjoyed the close friendship of so many children as was his pleasure--and to him it was a real pleasure, for he was truly a friend to the boys.

The deceased was an industrious man, and frugal in his habits and way of living. His disposition was to waste no time and to keep himself engaged. After retiring from active business he engaged himself much of the time in his garden, and in the care of flowers and fruit trees at his residence property. In the planting and care of these he has often said that he might not live to gather the fruits of his own planting, but if not, that some one else would enjoy them.

For the last few years he was afflicted with rheumatism which gradually grew worse, yet he endured this misfortune with fortitude and without complaint. His last sickness was of short duration, lasting about a week, the result of valvular heart trouble, but he retained his faculty to the last.

Mr. Lemon was a life long member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and took interest in both the church and sabbath school in a quiet and unassuming, yet substantial way. He lived his religion not only in his church, but in his every day life, by an honorable career in business, a clean life in his words and expressions, with kindness to the children of his acquaintance, by lending a helping hand to the needy, and by his devotion to his family and friends.

In his departure, the subject of this sketch left more than a competency to his family. He left to them a heritage of a good life, an honorable name, and a kindly memory for them to retain and to look back upon, as a means, to some extent at least, to alleviate their sorrow of his departure.

Obituary.

Dear Grandpa thou hast left us
And thy place will vacant be,
And through all the days that follow
We will often think of thee.

Squire McNulty Smith, son of James Smith and wife, of Brown county, Ohio. He was born on December the 16th, 1837, and departed this life April 26, 1924, aged 86 years, 4 months and 10 days.

In 1860 he was married to Mary H. Freeman, who a few years later was called home.

In 1867 he was again united in marriage to Sidney Ann Williams, who on May 5, 1912, departed, leaving him with no companion to cheer him in his declining years.

During the revival service held in Belfast Methodist Church by a pastor from Sinking Spring he was received in the church. Moving to this home over fifty years ago he transferred his to Flatrun M. E. church. On account of his inability to hear he has not attended services for a number of years.

In the declining years of his life when his physical strength got weaker his faith in the divine redeemer grew stronger and the burden of his prayers were for his children and grandchildren that they might be able to see the light as it is revealed in Christ Jesus. During the last he was constantly in communion with his Savior. Among his last words he said "He would like to go home to glory where he could rest."

He lived an earnest Christian life and was loved and respected by all who knew him.

The golden gates were opened.

A gentle voice said, "Come."

And with farewell unspoken

He calmly entered home.

Obituary.

On October 15, 1847, a daughter, Harriett Emma, was born to John and Phebe Elton, and died May 9th, 1924, aged 76 years, 6 months and 23 days.

In the old homestead she happily grew to womanhood with her parents three sisters and six brothers all of whom with the exception of one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Carroll, of Hartford City, Ind., and one brother, Edgar Elton, of Mound City, Mo., have passed to their reward.

February 18, 1873, she was united in marriage to John Barrett, who preceded her April 9, 1908. To this union was given four daughter—Mrs. J. M. Rittenhouse and Mrs. F. L. Smith, of Hillsboro, Mrs. Joseph Diven, of Chicago, Ill. and Mrs. Harold Eastman, who died Dec. 25th, 1913. Three daughters and ten grandchildren survive her, and it was the privilege of the daughters to be with her when the end came.

She was a member of the Presbyterian church of this place, and was an affectionate mother devoted to the welfare of her family. Now we note the empty chair, the unpressed pillow, and we offer to them our condolence. Yet thru the gloom of grief comes a tone to them clear as the moon breaks o'er stormy seas—"I am the Resurrection; why mourn for those at rest; her days and nights of pain are past." Let us rather say, "Tis well" and as we bear her body out of our sight this "Mother's Day" to her low quiet couch all curtained round with sheltering grasses, she enters in a wearied quiet, to sleep beside the companion of her youth.

CANADA

May 5, 1924

Wm Thornburg, of Lynchburg, spent Thursday night with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Thornburg and wife.

Those who attended the funeral of George Giffen, at Bournville, were: Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Runk and Lucille and James Rish.

His mind unbalanced and despondent because of the failure of his health, Dr. Mitchell L. Chaney, prominent physician, of Lynchburg, committed suicide Thursday afternoon. Using one of his surgical instruments he cut the large artery in his right arm just above the elbow and bled to death in a few minutes.

After his death a note was found in his room at the Colvin Hotel, where he made his home. In it he said that he might as well be out of the road as he had no money and could not practice his profession any longer because his health was gone. The note was not signed or dated but was in his handwriting.

On Thursday afternoon Dr. Chaney packed his grip and told Mr. Colvin that he was going away on the train. He went to the toilet in the rear of the hotel. At 2:45 Mr. Colvin went out that way and the Doctor asked him what time it was. Mr. Colvin told him and he said that he would not be able to make the train and wanted to know if he could stay another night at the hotel. Mr. Colvin told him he could stay as long as he wanted.

Mr. Colvin did not see him again until Thomp Sanders, a drayman, came in the hotel and told him that Dr. Chaney was in a pool of blood on the floor of the toilet. Sanders had seen him in passing through the alley. Sanders, Colvin and Robert Hopkins, who was at the hotel, went to the toilet and carried him to the hotel and placed him on a couch. He died just as they were laying him on the couch.

After Colvin had left him Dr. Chaney had taken off his coat and vest and hung them on a hook. He had then taken a lance from his instrument case and severed the artery in his arm. After cutting the artery he had placed the instrument back in the case. He had pushed the door of the toilet open and sat down on the floor with his back against the door. He was found in this position, the floor covered with blood.

Mr. Colvin says that Dr. Chaney had lived at the hotel for several years; that for a couple of years he had been very despondent and often talked about being no account and that he might as well be out of the way; that at different times he would imagine that people were following him and that for the last few months he had been very bad and had that hallucination almost all the time; that a number of times he had come to his room in the night and told him that people were after him, but that he had always been able to quiet him and convince him that everything was all right. Mr. Colvin says that he also imagined that government narcotic officers were shadowing him. Mr. Colvin is certain that his mind was unbalanced and that despondent because of his fears and and his illness, he took his own life.

The body was taken to Lafferty's funeral parlors in Lynchburg at once. Burial was made in the Ruble cemetery at Pricetown Saturday afternoon. The only services were by the Odd Fellows at the grave.

Dr. Chaney was 47 years of age. He was born and reared in Pricetown, where his father was a prominent physician for many years. He also practiced medicine there for a number of years. He had been located in Lynchburg for 16 years. He is survived by his mother and two children, Lewis and Mary, who live in Dayton.

The mother of William Henry died at his home Thursday night. The funeral was conducted at the home by Rev. Funk, after which her body was laid to rest in the Hillsboro cemetery.

Obituary.

Sarah Frances, daughter of Thomas and Minerva Woods, was born near Sugartree Ridge, Ohio, Oct. 15, 1863 and departed this life May 6, 1924, aged 60 years, 6 months and 21 days.

She was the second of a family of six daughters, two of whom had preceded her in death. She was united in marriage to William Wesley Temple on January 28, 1883. This union was blest with four sons and two daughters, one of the latter having departed this life in infancy. The other daughter, Mrs. Corine Steele, and four sons, Clarence, Henry, Edwin and Stanley, together with the beloved husband and father and six grandchildren are left to mourn the loss of a dear wife and mother.

In early life she united with the Christian church at Sugartree Ridge, and has remained a consistent member though not always able to attend the regular services of the church of her choice because of home cares. Her one great joy of life has been that of denying herself in order that life might be more pleasant and joyous for those near and dear to her.

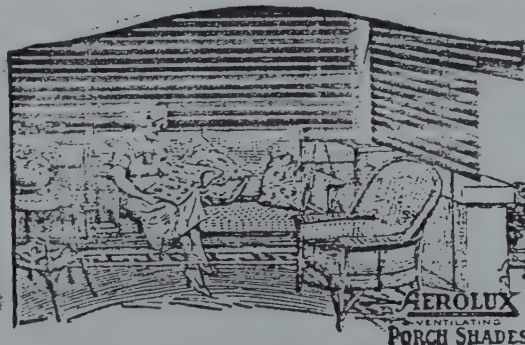

Always of a kind and loving disposition, she enjoyed having the children and their families come home for a visit as often as possible, and they were always assured of a most hearty welcome from mother.

Her last illness of several weeks duration was one of intense pain and suffering and was borne with a fortitude and patience that can come only from a life well spent in christian duty and a perfect faith in God.

All through her long period of suffering she was faithfully nursed by friends and children, whose loving hands did all in their power to alleviate the pain and stay the unerring hand of Death.

Thus the family loses a loving wife and mother and her friends a neighbor that was tried and true.

APPOINTED TO WEST POINT

Clement Harshbarger Ordered to Report on July 1---His Success Shows What Boy Can Do.

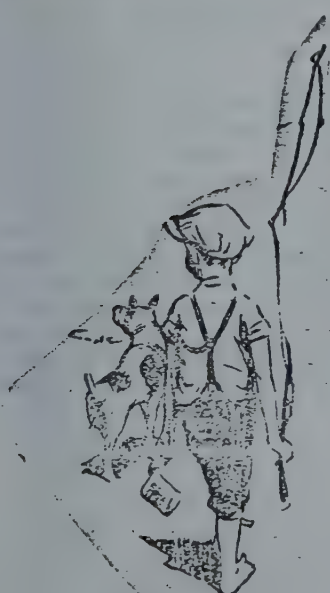

Clement Harshbarger received word Monday that he had been appointed a cadet at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point and was instructed to report in New York City on July 1. He was originally appointed as an alternate and his principal must have failed to qualify either on the physical or educational tests.

His many friends are delighted that he has received this appointment as he is a most deserving young man. His suhdess shows what can be done against obstacles and difficulties. He graduated from the Hillsboro High School. He is an orphan and had to work his way through school. He got a job at the Hillsboro Gazette and worked before and after school and on Saturdays and with what he could earn managed to support himself until he graduated.

While he had to work he still took part in athletics and was a member of the foot ball team several years. He joined the National Guards and is a sergeant of the local company.

Obituary.

As the shades of night were falling on Tuesday, May 13th, 1924, the spirit of Belle Pepple Clyburne passed from earthly scenes to the great beyond. She had lived her three score years and ten, all of which had been spent in Highland and Ross counties, where by her genial manner and quiet unassuming disposition she had won the friendship and respect of all with whom she came in contact.

She was the daughter of Austin and Martha Pepple and was born Oct. 6, 1853 at the Pepple homestead in beautiful Paint valley. There she grew to womanhood surrounded by brothers and sisters, four of whom, Joseph, of Findlay, Ohio, Dennis, Miss Emma and Mrs. Mattie Mason, of Rainsboro, still survive.

On April 21st, 1885 she became the bride of E. L. Clyburne and came with him to live in the home where sorrow reigns today.

Four children were born to this union, Mattie Marie, Amy Belle, Joseph Hulitt and Lydia Eddine, all of whom, together with two step-children, Harry Clyburne, of Greenfield, and Mrs. Stella Rife, of Good Hope, are left to mourn the loss of mother. October 2nd, 1892 her companion was taken from her by death but she courageously faced life's problems alone, keeping the home intact for the sake of her children and extending hospitality to other members of the family who were always sure of a hearty welcome around her fireside.

She did not crave the glitter of the social world but in her own home she found her heart's desire and sought there to make others happy.

While still a young girl, she united with the Presbyterian church in Bainbridge and remained a faithful member until death. She was not demonstrative in her religion but the quiet undertone of her life spoke more highly than words of communion with the Master.

During the recent revival in Rainsboro she visited friends in the village for a week that she might attend the services. She was deeply interested in the preaching of the word and remarked again and again how much she enjoyed the sermons and how she left uplifted in pondering over the truths presented. She seemed to have a presentiment that those were the last services she would ever attend and she was gathering spiritual strength for the journey she was so soon to take—the journey from which no traveler ever returns.

She had been in failing health for many months but soon after her return home she became critically ill and although every effort was made to keep her here and woo her back to health, she quietly slipped away and at seven o'clock on the evening of May 13 she entered into rest, aged 70 years, 7 months and 7 days.

Friends and neighbors will miss her kindly deeds and gentle voice but only those who have loved and lost a mother realize how sadly she will be missed in the home. There will be no welcoming smile from mother to greet the homecoming of children and grand children but the blessed memory of her good pure life will linger to guide her loved ones to the throne on high.

That afternoon Mr. Thompson had attended a ball game at the ball park and had started to walk home, going across the school grounds. He must have suffered the stroke while crossing the grounds and either sat down on the ground or fallen. He was found by Carey McConnaughey, who notified a physician. TIN BOX OF OLD COINS FOUND

Buried in Ground Under Building at Elmvile--One Bore Date of 1642 6-19

A tin box, containing 206 old coins, was found last week buried in the ground when an old summer kitchen was moved at the home of W. A. Gall at Elmvile. The coins were of many denominations and of several countries. One foreign coin bore the date of 1642. The latest date on any coin was 1867.

Mr. Gall thinks that the box was buried there many years ago, probably at a time when a store building was located there. He says that he has not attempted to count the coins to learn their face value or made any investigation to find out whether any of them are rare and have any special value. The coins, he says, were in an unusually good condition, being bright and well preserved. The tin box he said was rusted badly.

Death of James Carlisle

James Carlisle, aged 81 years, died Wednesday of last week at his home at Harriett, after a long illness with tuberculosis. Funeral services were held Saturday morning at the Dunkard church at Elmville. He is survived by his wife and four children, two sons, Carey and Harvey, and two daughters, Mrs. Lizzie Steele, at home, and Mrs. Robert Countryman, of North Union.

Howard Wilson, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wilson, and William Willison, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Willison, of Wilmington, were drowned in the creek back of the farm home of the former's parents, about four miles north of Lynchburg Thursday afternoon about 3:30. The boys were cousins and nephews of Harry and Misses Bess and Rose Wilson, of this city.

Howard and William and William's brother, Lee Willison, 16, were fishing. William was on a log over the creek. He fell in the water which was over his head. He could not swim and Lee jumped in to save him. Lee called to Howard to hold the fishing pole out so he could get hold of it but Howard in his excitement also got in the water beyond his depth. Both of the little boys then began to struggle. Lee had hold of both of them but was not strong enough to pull them to the bank. In their struggles they forced him under the water and almost drowned him. He succeeded in getting loose from them and climbing to the bank, ran for help. The boys were taken from the water before they had ceased breathing but all the people were so excited that no one thought to render first aid or else no one knew what to do.

A physician was called from Martinsville but by the time he arrived both of the boys were dead.

Mrs. Willison, who is a sister of Jesse Wilson, had come that day with her four children to visit the Wilsons. The three boys had gone to the creek a short distance from the house to fish. They were very anxious to catch some fish for their grandfather, H. C. Wilson, of this city, who is very sick as Howard had brought him a fish earlier in the week and he had enjoyed it very much and had expressed a wish for some more fresh water fish.

Harry Wilson went to the home of his brother as soon as he learned of the accident and Misses Bess and Rose Wilson attended the funeral of both of the little boys which was held at West's Chapel Saturday morning at 9:30. Burial was made at Dunn's Chapel, the two little bodies being laid in the same grave.

Granville P. Spargur, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Spargur, of Berryville, was instantly killed Sunday morning at Breckenridge, Texas, a piece of machinery in an oil derrick falling and striking him on the head. His skull was crushed.

A telegram telling of his death was received Sunday by his parents but no details were learned until the body arrived here Wednesday morning.

Mr. Spargur was employed by an oil company. Sunday morning he was asked to go to one of the wells and direct the removing of the casing. The men had trouble getting it out and it is believed strained the cable. As the casing was pulled out Mr. Spargur looked up to see how it was going. At that moment the cable broke and the heavy piece fell and struck him on the head, crushing his skull. He was killed instantly.

The body was accompanied by his widow and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kennerly, of Houston, Texas. Mrs. Kennerly is a sister of the deceased man.

Funeral services were held at Prospect church, Wednesday afternoon; burial in Prospect cemetery. Hillsboro Masons conducted the services. On the day he was killed Breckenridge Masons were having a picnic and he was chairman of the entertainment committee. He had expected to be at the well only a short time and had been asked to direct the work because he was especially efficient and capable.

Those from a distance here for the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Moss-meyer and T. J. West, of Cincinnati, and Dr. N. M. West, of Cleveland.

Obituary.

George W. Fox, son of Christian and Elizabeth Weber Fox, was born in Troy, Ohio July 11, 1845. In early life he removed with his parents and settled in Highland county, where the remainder of his life was spent.

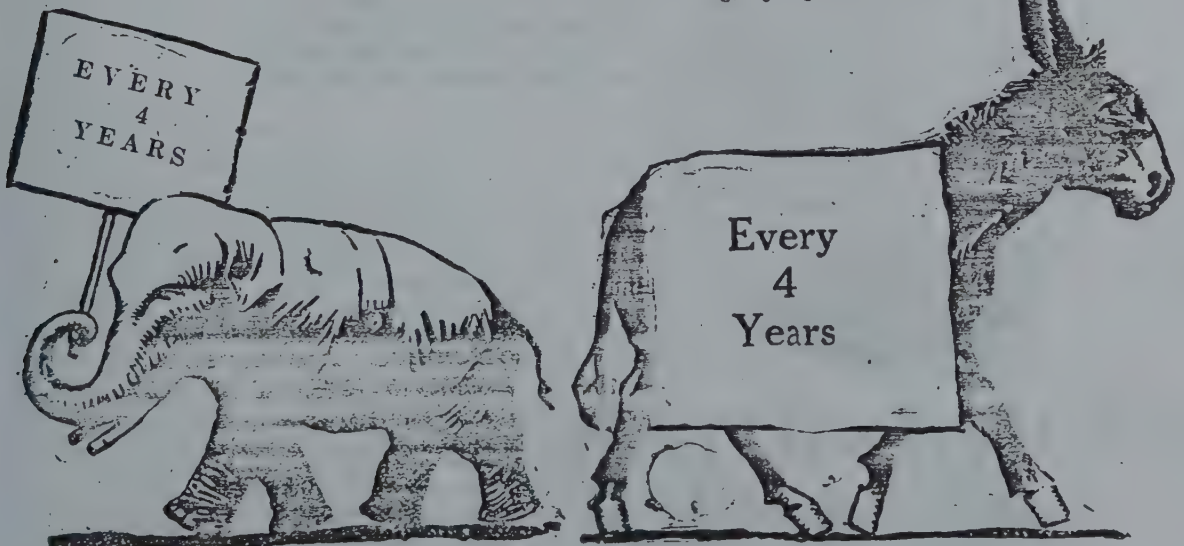

Feb. 24th, 1892 he was married to Miss Emma Lyle, of near Hillsboro, who was a faithful and loving helpmate and companion to the end of his life.

Mr. Fox was what we might call a self made man, although he had few educational advantages in his early life yet he applied himself to study and by his own diligence and perseverance he became a well informed and well educated man. He had high ideas of life and of integrity and uprightness and scorned anything that favored deceit or dishonesty. He was kind and obliging and ready to help where there was need.

The writer knew him as an affable, courteous gentleman. For many years he had been a great sufferer and bore his affliction with patience and fortitude. About two weeks ago he fell and sustained a broken hip which hastened his death.

He died Tuesday evening, May 27th, 1924, aged 78 years, 10 months and 16 days. He is survived by his wife and one brother who resides at Macon, Ga.

Miss Daisylee Eyre's death has caused a great gloom over the entire community as she was a bright and lovable girl. It is little matter, at what hour of the day the righteous falls asleep. Death can not come to them untimely who have learned to die. The less of this brief life, the longer, life, mortality. My sprightly neighbor gone before to that unknown and silent shore, shall we not meet, as heretofore. Some summer morning, when from thy cheerful eyes a ray. Hath struck a bliss upon the day, A bliss that would not go away. A sweet fore warning. He leaves our heart desolate, He plucks our fairest, sweetest flowers. Transplanted into bliss they now adorn immortal bowers. And when he sees a smile too bright or heart too pure for taint or vice, He bears it to that world of light, To dwell in Paradise. And ever near us, though unseen, the dear immortal spirits tread. For all the boundless universe is life. —L. L. U.

Gleason Streber Tells of His Experience in Oil Fields—Was Bitten by Scorpion

Gleason Streber and Benton Knisley, of New Market, are in the oil fields in Oklahoma. The following extracts from a letter of Gleason to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Streber, will be read with much interest by the many friends of the boys:

Maramac, Okla., June 24, 1924.

Dear Home Folks and Friends:

We will leave for Kansas tomorrow morning if nothing prevents us. I received two letters yesterday from Ohio: You can't guess how glad I am to get all the news.

We like it fine here, have a good job. Work 8 hours a day and good wages. We have about six miles to drive to work, but our gas and oil are furnished us. Yesterday was a stormy day. Hot winds blew over the deserts, carrying sand. It was a real sand storm. We work just across the road from a big cotton field and the sand there was fierce, but we are going to try it again today. My friend and I handle the dynamite. Everyone here is afraid of it. We discharged about fifty pounds of the high explosive today. It sure scattered things.

There are a lot of good looking Indian squaws here and they sure get sweet too, if they get a chance. And money. Some of them draw $1500 and $1700 a month on oil stock.

Uncle John has given us an introduction to almost everybody within ten miles. He tells them we're Bob's boys and lots of people here still remember "Dad." People come from about everywhere around here to talk to us.

We took a short drive the other day and saw some fine oil refineries, tanks and derricks. And we also saw some fine corn. It is most all waist high out here. All kinds of vegetable matured and ripe fruits, such as peaches, apples, cherries, berries and pears. We helped a neighbor finish his harvest Friday and I was bitten by a scorpion that was in a sheaf of oats. I still feel the effects of the bite, but it is not poisonous they say. We made $19 last week, but broke a rear spring in my car, so that takes a little of the profit.

If we like the work as well as we have we don't know when we will come back to Ohio. Maybe never. Uncle John says we won't. He thinks this is a much better country. Cotton is the chief crop here. Corn, oats, wheat, cane and cafficorn are raised, but not as extensively.

It is strange here with no grass, such as clover and timothy and not many trees except fruit trees and what timber there is is very small.

Love to all,

Gleason.

Obituary.

Granville Perry, beloved and devoted son of Matilda West and Samuel W. Spargur, was born on Sunday, August 29, 1897 and departed this life on Sunday, June 22, 1924, having shared with us life's joys and sorrows 26 years, 9 months and 24 days. The untimely death of this youthful son, brother and husband has broken, yes, forever broken the family circle and six members, mutually bound by ties of deepest love and most tender affection.

In early youth, Granville attended the school of Berryville, Ohio, his birth place, and at the age of 17 graduated from the Heights High School of Houston, Texas, in which city the family then resided. He then took a post graduate course in business training which fitted him for the clerical position he at first held in the oil office. However, in order to master the intricacies, throughout, of this leading industry he later enlisted as an oil well machinist in which work death overtook him.

Granville's friends and admirers were innumerable. Being virtually a dynamo of energy, Granville or "Grandy" as teammates knew him, starred easily in high school athletics and his activities in the field revealed in him the admirable qualities which characterized this hopeful boy to the very moment of his tragic death. Thru a heroic effort to bring his team to victory in a hard fought game of foot ball "Grandy" sustained a permanent injury.

Likewise, in the great game of life "Grandy" hopefully and fearlessly braved the hardships, privations and dangers of a hazardous vocation. Again misfortune intercepted, this time demanding the living presence of one whose life example of sacrifice and service shall forever inspire us.

A brilliant scholar, a close observer of the things of life, a humorist, Granville made for all who knew him an ideal associate. Making the profession of Faith at the age of 14 and being baptized in to fellowship of the Baptist Temple Church of Houston, Texas, he received in early boyhood the training of a faithful Sunday School teacher, Mr. Felix Nolan, whose name Granville always honored and revered. Being a member of the great Masonic order, he further revealed his belief that service to mankind is a true measure of faith in Christ. His chums were never in need while "Grandy" had means to share.

On Sunday, Christmas Day, 1921 Granville Perry was most happily united in marriage to Miss Lola Smith, of Breckenridge, Texas. Pathetic, indeed, that in the very beginning, the fond hopes of this youthful couple must be so abruptly and completely blasted.

Knowing and loving Granville as we have known and loved him since infancy, we feel no bounds in our praises for him; but throughout his entire life, he seemed to shun rather than to seek our praises, which trait, peculiar to himself, precludes the propriety of extolling further his virtues and manly qualities.

In departing, Granville leaves a grief stricken widow, one sister, Margine, two brothers, Herschel and Gordon, and the father and mother. To his mother and to her alone would Granville reveal his little troubles and heartaches. In this sad hour of bereavement, one great source of consolation to those who mourn is the fact that thruout his life, Granville was blest with the care, the protection and the guidance of a father and mother, the value of whose lives they themselves have measured in terms of service to their children.

Emma Estella Pulse.

As the sun was peeping its rays of golden light in the early morning of June 25th, God's agent Death the inevitable conqueror of life eternal, entered a home and removed from it a loving and devoted christian daughter, Emma Estella Pulse.

She was born near Dodsonville, Ohio August 4th, 1868, and died June 25th, 1924 aged 55 years, 10 months and 21 days.

August 1st, 1882, she with her twin sister, Eva, accepted Christ as her Savior and was buried with her Savior in baptism. In early girlhood, she dedicated her life to the Lord and faithfully the Master she followed.

She was loved by all who knew her and all that loving hands could do and tender hearts could do to alleviate her sufferings was done. She leaves to mourn her loss a dear father and mother, two sisters, Miss Eva and Mrs. Electa Tedrick.

Obituary

William Vance Arnett, son of James H. and Comfort Vance Arnett, was born near New Market, Highland County, Ohio, August fourth, 1829. He united with the New Market Baptist Church in March 1865, and remained a faithful and consistent member until his death on the twenty-sixth day of June, 1924. After his removal from the New Market neighborhood he attended the Hillsboro Baptist Church and for seven years was not once absent from its Sunday school. During his active years William Arnett was a regular attendant and a loyal supporter of the church and benevolences, quietly giving help and sympathy to the needy; he was a good neighbor and friend characterized by a genial disposition, having a ready and cheerful word for all with whom he came in contact. Industry, honesty and frugality were outstanding traits of this God-fearing, law-abiding, citizen who was called at the advanced age of eighty-five years, being one among the last of his generation to pass away. His work was well done.

"The days of our years are three-score years and ten; and if by reason of strength they be four score years, yet is their strength labor and sorrow; for it is soon cut off and we fly away—So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom."

In 1865 Mr. Arnett was married to Lydia Elma Bowman, who, with two daughters, preceded him to the great beyond. He is survived by four daughters, Miss Elizabeth Arnett, of Normal, Ill., Misses Grace and Anna Arnett at home, Miss Katherine Arnett, of Chicago; two sons J. B. Arnett, of Omaha, Neb., and Dr. J. H. Obituary

Mary Alice, daughter of Cornelius and Jane Huffman, was born May 18, 1863, near Elmvile, Ohio, and departed this life on June 17, 1924, aged 61 years and 1 month.

She was united in marriage to George C. Bayhan on August 8, 1886. To this union were born four children, Mrs. Lena M. Shinkle, James Oscar, Olen Jesse, and Edwin Farris, all of whom still survive her. There are eight grand-children, all of whom survive her, except little Lloyd, son of James Oscar, who passed away on October 7, 1923, this being the first death in the family since their marriage.

Many years ago she became affiliated with the church and has always been as much as her physical ability would permit, a consistent worker in the church. She served her family, her community and her church with faithful, steadfastness and loyal courage, asking no reward except the ability to continue to serve. Obituary

Don Wolfe Swisshelm was born April 7, 1877, near Greenfield, Highland county, Ohio. On Thursday evening, at 5 o'clock, June 12, 1924, at the White Cross Hospital, Columbus, O., after seven long, weary months of suffering from the disease of pernicious anaemia, and after everything in the way of medical aid and careful nursing had been given him, his spirit winged its flight heavenward and his tired body was at rest.

He was the second child of a family of four children born to George Badger and Margaret Spruance Swisshelm. The hand of death has laid its hold upon this family, taking the father and mother, a sister Anna Laurie, a brother, Joseph Otto, and the subject of this sketch. One sister, Mrs. Mary Etta Overman, yet remains and words fail to express the loneliness and sorrow she feels in the loss of brother. Don never married and established a home for himself, therefore, he shared the events of his sister's life, be it, joy or sorrow. When death entered her home and took little Lewis George Overman, he grieved sadly for this nephew. Last fall Mrs. Overman was in the hospital for an operation, and his health would not permit his being at her bedside, he was ever mindful of her, hoping and praying that she be spared to her family.

A nephew, Victor Swisshelm, now of Middletown, Ohio, and two dear little nieces, Margaret Catherine and Mary Martha Overman, besides a large number of relatives and friends, who are numbered by the acquaintances, are left to remember a loving uncle, a kind relative and true friend.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Hefford and daughter, of Indianapolis, Lawrence Lynn, of Cincinnati, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jackson, of Chillicothe, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Perry, of Frankfort, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swisshelm and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Swisshelm and Fite Doak, of Wilmington, Mr. and Mrs. Everly Ward and two sons, Harold and Victor, of Selma, Victor Swisshelm, of Middletown and Walter Worley and son, of Bainbridge, and many relatives and friends from neighboring towns. Mrs. Overman has the sincere sympathy of everyone in the loss of her brothers in the same hospital in Columbus. There was 6 years, 1 month and day between their deaths.

An unusual accident occurred near Highland on Monday night at 9:30, which resulted in the death of Fred Jones, aged 19 years.

Young Jones was on his way home from Leesburg. He was riding on horseback. When near the residence of Burch Woodmansee about a mile from Highland, he ran into a buggy, driven by Howard Carter. He was thrown from the horse and struck on the road on his head. His skull was fractured and a clot of blood formed on his brain which caused his death. He died early Tuesday morning.

When picked up Fred was unconscious and he never regained consciousness.

All of the occupants of the buggy were thrown out and scratched and bruised but not seriously injured. The boy was riding very fast and it is thought that he did not see the buggy in time to avoid it.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Jones, who live a mile west of Highland. The funeral services will be held at the home today at 1:30 and burial will be made in the cemetery at Jamestown.

Obituary

Leaves have their time to fall, and flowers to wither at the winds
cold blast,
But thou hast all seasons for Thine
Own, Oh Death.

Just as softly as falls the light after the un is gone,
Just as sweet as through the night
the steady stars shine on;
Just as gently as spring leaves come or snow flakes whiten the sod,
Passed she out from an earthly home
Into the home of God.

Lametta I. Caplinger, daughter of George W. and Nancy Frazer Blair, was born May 10, 1863, and journeyed with us three score and one years, when on July 13, 1924, the Savior, knowing her lifework, compassionately said, "It is enough come up higher."

November 16, 1905, she was united in marriage to James W. Caplinger.
For the past year she had been in failing health, but her sudden death came as a great shock to us all. Her thoughtfulness of other, her interest in their welfare, her kind, gentle disposition can only be appreciated when we think of what she has done for others. For 17 years she had given a home to Miss Pearl Smart and cared for her as a mother. In December, 1914, when her sister-in-law died,
leaving five little boys, ranging in age from four weeks to eight years, she willingly took them all into her home and gave them the care and love of a mother. The husband and Pearl will both miss her, but Estella, Re-bert, Delbert, Edwin and Donald, being too small to realize their own mother's death, will miss her most of all.

At an early age she united with the Church of Christ at Mt. Zion and has always lived a life devoted to Christian service and helpfulness.
Her first real sorrow came on November 28, 1897, when her father was taken. A few years later on December 7, 1904, she was called upon to give up her dear mother, then the death of her youngest brother, Adam, in October, 1906, was almost more than she could bear, but during it all her faith in her Savior never wavered. Her faithful ministering to the sick, her deep interest in her church, her kindly deeds of love and mercy towards all mankind have set in motion upon the great sea of life, an influence for righteousness which shall become wider and broader until it reaches the eternal shore.

Her true worth was most conspicuous in her home, her hands were never weary in caring for her loved ones. She leaves to mourn their loss a loving husband, one brother,
Judge A. Z. Blair, wife and six children, all of Portsmouth, and Pearl, who did so much to relieve her of all earthly cares and pain in her last sickness, and Estel, Rebert, Delbert, Edwin and Donald, who will grieve for her as a real mother. The funeral service were held at the home
Monday afternoon, at large concourse of relatives and friends attending.
Burial in Belfast cemetery.

Early Thursday morning Mr. Carl took the rifle and went towards the barn, saying that he was going to kill some pigeons. When his grand-son, David Carl, went to the barn a little later he found Mr. Carl on the ground with the bullet through his brain.

Obituary.

William, son of Aaron and Susan Dodd, was born near East Danville, Ohio, January 23, 1856, departed this life at the Highland County Hospital, August 14, 1924, aged 68 years, 3 months, and 21 days. He was of a family of four children, two sisters and one half brother, all having preceded him in death; also his wife has gone on before. He was a member of the Sonner's Chapel U. B. Church.

Billie, as he was familiarly known, was an honest, industrious, and innocent man, never had done any evil, any harm.

He has helped in nearly every home in this neighborhood with his ax and hoe. Then at the close of the day to return to his own little home that he loved so dearly.

But his life work is ended, he has paid the debt that we all will have to pay sooner or later. We never again will see his bent form traveling in our midst. But we feel and know while we are here today paying our last tribute of respect to his memory that his soul is in that beautiful home above, where sin, sorrow, sickness and death is unknown.

May we all live a life of service for the Master. That when we come down to the hour of death that we may say with the Apostle Paul, "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course. I have kept the faith; Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge shall give me at that day; and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing."

Mrs. Siddons in her younger days united with the church of her choice, the U. B. Church, of Cynthiana, Pike county, Ohio, near the place of her birth. During all these years she lived a devoted Christian life. She was possessed of a kind and cheerful disposition, emanating from a pure and noble character.

Her illness was of short duration, yet she bore it calmly, being resigned to the will of Him who doeth all things well.

Guy Hunter, formerly of Hillsboro, was struck by an interurban car between Columbus and Lancaster early Wednesday morning. His skull was fractured and the last word from the hospital shortly after noon Wednesday was that he could not live but a few hours.

Only meager details have been received in regard to the accident. Mrs. John Cline, who is a sister was telephoned in regard to the accident. Her information was that Guy was driving a Ford roadster and was struck by a traction car at a grade crossing between Lancaster and Columbus; that his skull was fractured but no other bones broken and that he had been taken to a Columbus hospital. Mr. Cline and his brother, Lowell, of Marshall, left at once for Columbus. Mr. Cline telephoned later that Guy could not live but a few hours.

Guy Hunter was employed by the Bell Telephone Co. and lived at Lancaster. When he lived in Hillsboro he was in the employ of the Bell Telephone Co. His wife was Miss Cecil Stratton, of this city, before her marriage. Guy was a good amateur ball player and when he lived here played on the Hillsboro team several years. He has two brothers, L. A. Death of Earl Frank.

John Earl Frank, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Frank, of this city, died of bronchial asthma at his home in Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, Thursday, Sept. 4. He had been chief barber in the shop of J. L. Graves, of Cincinnati, for about 15 years and was highly esteemed by employer and patrons alike. He was 39 years of age and had been a sufferer with hay fever and asthma each year for 33 years.

His death came suddenly and as a great shock as he was in no worse condition than usual, his heart, however, weakened by suffering, suddenly collapsed. He is survived by his parents, a devoted wife and two daughters aged 12 and 8 years. DIED FROM INJURIES

Guy Hunter Lived Only 24 Hours After Being Hit by Traction Car-- Funeral Sunday.

The funeral of Guy O. Hunter, who was fatally injured when his automobile was struck by a traction car between Lancaster and Columbus Wednesday of last week, was held Sunday at the home of his brother, Lowell, at Marshall. The services were conducted by Rev. J. Hubbard Morton and the Hillsboro Masonic Lodge. Burial was made in the Hillsboro cemetery.

In addition to the facts given in the New-Herald last week it has been learned that Guy was on his way to Columbus from Lancaster. At the little town of Carroll he was seen to bring his car almost to a stop and look for the Interurban car before going on the tracks. He then drove on the tracks right in front of the car. His machine was demolished and his skull badly fractured at the base. He was rushed to Grant Hospital in Columbus and died just 24 hours after the accident, never regaining consciousness.

The traction car was late and was running at very high speed. It was coming down a hill with the power shut off and was making no noise and Guy did not see or hear it. He was on his way to the main office of the Bell Telephone Co. in Columbus.

He was 34 years of age and held a very important position with the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., being in charge of toll line construction for the state. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Cecil Stratton before her marriage, and one brother, Lowell, of Marshall, and one sister, Mrs. John Cline, of this city. Until a few years ago Guy had lived in Highland county, at Marshall and Hillsboro.

Obituary

Mrs. Louisian Taylor was the daughter of Thomas and Margaret Shelton. She was born Jan. 24, 1849 and departed this life Sept. 7, 1924, aged 75 years, 7 months and 13 days. She was united in marriage to David N. Taylor May 11, 1871, who preceded her to the better land. She united with the Christian Church at Sugartree Ridge at an early age.

One of our pastors who talked with her a few months since said that her faith in Christ was something wonderful. She had great faith in prayer, believing the father would take care of her in her affliction. She had been an invalid for several years, but a few months ago had the misfortune to fall and break a limb from which she never recovered.

Her neighbors will always remember her as having a kind word for them. She leaves one brother and a host of relatives and friends to mourn their loss. Her earthly life is ended, but we submit to the will of the Father for we feel that she is at rest.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank the friends and neighbors for their kindness during her affliction and especially Miss Mary Steele for their kind nursing; also Rev. Hamilton who had charge of the funeral services.

Death of Mrs. Louise Taylor

Mrs. Louise Taylor, aged 75 years, died Sunday at her home at Sugartree Ridge after a lingering illness. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at Bethel, conducted by Rev. Hamilton; burial at Bethel.

REUNION IN CALIFORNIA

Of Former Residents of Highland County—Annual Affair—List of Those Present

On the second Sunday of August, the Highland County Colony in and around Los Angeles, Calif., met again for their yearly picnic. This time the meeting was held at Exposition Park. Even though we live in what is known as "the play ground of the world" we are sure the ladies from Old Highland have not forgotten the art of cooking and the long tables looked like the Spargur or Wilkin reunion.

The Highland Society, of California, will meet next year at Bixby Park, Long Beach. A welcome is extended to the new comers to the land of sunshine and flowers.

Obituary of John Stoops.

At Centerfield, Ohio, on August 8, 1860, a son, John Milton, was born to James and Marjorie Stoops, and after having lived almost his "three score years and ten" he passed quietly away the afternoon of September 6, 1924.

In 1876, the family removed to Barrett's Mills and established a home on the farm where John spent his last days.

When still a youth, John began his carpenter work and kept at his trade faithfully most of his life. His ability in handling tools made it possible in the last few years for him to be very helpful in the neighborhood and he seemed to enjoy serving his friends in this way.

John was united in marriage to Biddle Washburn and of this union was born two children—Nellie Rotherf and Hazel Uffelman, both of Cincinnati. The daughters were ever thoughtful of their father's comfort and sent little gifts from time to time and only a few short weeks ago came to help celebrate his birthday.

June 27, 1907, John was married to Adeline Wallace, who still survives him.

John was jolly and very witty—always ready with his jokes. As he would be about his work and on his visits home, he would always greet his friends with a cheery hello and no matter how dark the day or times might seem, he always could see a brighter side. He was very kind and in times of sickness or death, no one in the neighborhood was more willing to help than was John. He enjoyed reading very much and during the last few months, he read day after day from books and magazines sent him by his friends. He was always alert and conversant on present day topics and enjoyed discussions with his neighbors and friends.

The last two years have been spent at the old home with his sister, Emma, who has been most kind and helpful to him, and has very tenderly ministered to all his wants during his prolonged illness.

Practically all his life, John has been a familiar figure about the Barrett, Mill neighborhood, having gone to school up on the hill returning home frequently for vacation periods from his work and finally coming back to spend his last years amongst the hills he loved so well.

Ever since the reunion days were started at "Briar Hill" school, John has been a faithful attendant and it was only because of failing strength that he did not attend this year. He was missed and many were the inquiries about John Stoops. The Secretary sent greetings from the reunion and he treasured the letter greatly—the lines so appropriately express his interest and the place he held among his school-mates that quotation is made:—"Dear John—On behalf of the members of the 'Briar Hill School' reunion I am extending to you greetings from each one present on Wednesday, August thirteenth, all so sorry your place must be vacant on the 'Big Day' and all the more sorry that your physical condition was the cause of your absence. Our wishes are for you to be free from pain, to be comfortable as is possible, and for a return of more strength each day. We are earnestly hoping you may be able to join us 'on the hill' for our 1925 reunion. The sincere wishes of your friends of the Briar Hill School. Signed: Jessie C. Barrett, Sec. August 1924."

While John cannot join his comrades 'on the hill' for the 1925 reunion, he has gone on to a happier place and shall await a reunion over there with friends and loved ones.

Obituary.

Though ever in love with life, its associations, duties and privileges, when death called, Miss Cannie P. Webb, at the home of the Misses Burkes, Saturday, September 13, 1924, at 11 o'clock p. m., after an illness of twelve days, which was not considered serious the first few days, she was ready and but waiting for the transition from earth to the life beyond. Her namesake and favorite niece, Mrs. William Pitt (Cannie Ford) Trimble, of New York City and Seattle, Wash., reached her bedside a few hours before her death, leaving Seattle within three hours after she received the call, was recognized and heard dear Aunt Cannie say: "Now all is right."

Miss Webb's ancestors were early colonial settlers in Virginia, removing to Kentucky before it was a state. She was born at Princeton, Ky., being the youngest of a large family, all preceding her in death. Inheriting marked intellectual strength from both parents, they decided to give her, then, unusual advantage of an European education and she spent a number of years under the best teachers of that nation. Music and languages were preferred studies and she became highly proficient in both, keeping up her music for many years and her language work until her last illness interrupted it, hundreds of pages of accurate French translations being left on her table. The French, German, Spanish and Italian were well understood by her, and frequent visits to different parts of Europe kept her in close touch with each.

Fifteen years ago or more after the death of her last sister, Mrs. Frances Ford, of Covington, Ky., she decided to come to Hillsboro for her summers and to spend her winters in the South, as she craved a quiet life. Knowing Miss Ann Burke she asked to make her home with them for the summers but later spent the entire year with the Misses Burke as it was a real home to her. Her nieces, at first, could not bear the thought of Aunt Cannie not living with them but when it brought rest, quiet study and happiness to her they were reconciled to the change. Mrs. Trimble as she passed to and fro each year between her homes, always visited her and Miss Webb visited her, both in Seattle and New York City, yet was always homesick for Hillsboro, its quiet and its good friends when away from it.

Versatile and entertaining she made friends of all she met, often referring to her love for Hillsboro as a home, and for its good people and congratulated herself upon being a part of it all. A believer in God as the All Father she never doubted that he was in and ruled over all even the smallest affairs and that she had been guided to Hillsboro for a home through his wisdom and love.

The beautiful flowers and plants which surrounded dear Miss Webb as she lay so beautifully and restfully in lasting peace made a fit farewell to one who came to us a stranger and became a true friend, being as fond of Hillsboro as any of us.

A devout Episcopalian she had the joy and comfort of several visits from Rev. Mr. Phelps, the new rector of St. Marys. The funeral services were held in the home of the Misses Burkes at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Rector Phelps reading the burial services.

A trio from the St. Mary's choir, Mrs. Charlotte Hinkle, Mrs. Sigel Mullenix and Herman Zane sang sweetly, "Abide With Me." The remains were taken to Covington, Ky., Monday and interment made Tuesday in the Highlands cemetery beside her loved sister, Frances, to await the blessed resurrection morn.

The honorary pall bearers were: John Matthews, Charles Scott, Dan Morgan, Charles Ridgeway, Irvin McD. Smith and Harry Rogers.

Memoir.

The history of another life has been written and the book was closed Wednesday morning at 7 a. m., when the Supreme Ruler said to Clifford Lee Marconett your earthly pilgrimage is over, come home.

He was born Feb. 20, 1891, and died Sept. 10, 1924, aged 33 years, 6 months and 20 days. He was the son of D. G. and Nancy Cochran Marconett and had three sisters and two brothers. Two of whom a brother and sister died in infancy. One brother, Theodore, of Cincinnati, and two sisters, Mrs. Stella Euverard, of Taylorsville, and Nellie, of Mowrytown, still survive.

On the 15th of April 1924 he was married to Lottie Fern Fender and leaves her, father and mother, brother and sisters and a host of friends to mourn his loss.

He accepted Christ as his savior during the evangelistic service of Rev. Burley Carrier, at Hollowtown, and became an active member of the church.

He was a good neighbor and friend, willing to play the part of the good samaritan whenever opportunity presented itself.

He was energetic and ambitious and up to the time of his sickness toiled earnestly.

No words can convey the sympathy which goes out to the stricken family. Not only their personal friends but the entire community is deeply stirred by this death.

Cut down in a life teeming with usefulness, Mr. Marconett's loss touches many circles as well as the home, to which his deepest interests were given.

Family Reunion

A most enjoyable day was spent at the Taylor home, north of Samantha, September 21, when Miss Sarah entertained in honor of her sister Mrs. D. C. Johnson, of Hillsboro, Iowa. The following relatives were present: Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor and two children, Robert and Romaine, of Waverly, Geo. Cooper, of Los Angeles, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Zickeloose, Columbus, Charles Smith, of Greenfield, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Sanders, Rt. No. 1, Hillsboro.

It had been 28 years since Mrs. Johnson and her brother, W. F. Taylor, had seen each other, and 35 years since Mr. Cooper and Mrs. Zickeloose, cousins of the Taylor family, had been with them all. The joy of meeting pays the pangs of parting, else who could bear it, is very true, for all knew this family would never all be together again. Mr. Cooper left Tuesday for his home in California and Mrs. Johnson will leave October 4, for her home in Iowa.

The inclemency of the weather was the only unpleasant feature of the day, but once assembled all was forgotten only the joy of each others company. The time passed all too quickly, as such a reunion was unusual for this family, but will live long in the memory of each.—Contributed.

Obituary.

But when the Sun in all his state,
Illumined the October skies,
She passed thru Gloy's noontide gate
And walked in Paradise.

Dosie Olive Wilkin, youngest child of Samuel and Roseanna Wilkin, was born July 17, 1893, and died October 1, 1924. Of a large family of 14 children, 11 are still living, 4 girls and 7 boys.

Her early life was one of training in the way a child should go, being industrious, happy and cheerful.

She remembered her Creator early seeking to obey God first; joining church at South Liberty in 1909 under the preaching of Rev. Hales.

No greater heritage can any mother leave to her children than this "Belief in God and his commandments."

She was united in marriage to Lewis S. Kidd, September 7, 1916. To this union were born three children, Launa Irene, Grell Wilkin and Lewis, Jr.

She leaves her children and husband, this Godly memory, a Christian mother and helpmate, upholding only the greatest, noblest and best. Her death is a great loss to the ideals of influence on this earth but God knows best, for the value of life is not measured in length of years, but breadth of service, and her departure leaves to us the truth of God's love to call his own. She leaves to mourn her departure her husband, three children, four sisters, seven brothers and a host of friends.

Obituary.

Among the sturdy Pioneer families who wended their way westward braving the dangers of the forest, and with only a trail blazed upon the trees for guidance to their destination, came the Coopers from Virginia and the Dills from Pennsylvania.

The two families settled in the same neighborhood near New Market, which at that time held equal prestige with Chillicothe to be selected as the capital of Ohio.

In the course of time Allen Cooper, a son of the Cooper family and Annie Dill were married and went to house-keeping on a part of the ancestral farm.

On the 20th of Dec. 1860 John Cooper, the subject of this sketch, was born.

He was raised in a home noted for hospitality, attended the Country School until he was nine years of age. At this time his parents moved to Hillsboro and he attended the Hillsboro Public Schools. When quite a young man he found employment with the Matthews Grocery Co., where he was employed for years. He afterwards engaged in the Livery Business.

On the 8th day of October 1882 John Cooper was married to Miss Ella Overman and she has been a faithful helpmate and companion for the past 32 years. Nine children were born of this union. One preceeded the father. Four sons and four daughters, ten grandchildren, with the devoted sister, Mattie, are left to mourn his loss.

Many are the homes that have been brightened in sickness and in sorrow by his kind interest and attention.

When folks were sick to him we'd go
Because we knew that he would know
Just how they were. He'd been to see!
As we'd have done, if only we
Were half way like him.

But we found
Life easier with him around.
We let him do the things we know
Down in our hearts we ought to do.

Many a burden was made lighter for others when he so willingly gave a lift.

For the past four years he has been in failing health. His family has been united during this time in their efforts for his comfort. Good nursing and the best of medical attention were given him and it is probable that the care prolonged his life for several months. The end came Saturday evening Oct. 4th, 1924, and we lay him to rest, awhile, in the family-burying ground at New Market.

Thomas S. Medsker.

Thomas S. Medsker, the son of Michael and Sarah Medsker, was born November 1, 1842 a short distance south of Hillsboro and lived his entire life in Highland county. He was the last of a family of nine children and died in Hillsboro, Ohio, October 17, aged 81 years, 11 months and 17 days.

On the 15th day of January 1868 he was married to Maggie Anderson who died April 27, 1881. Four children were born of this marriage; Ollie Smith, wife of Walter Smith, Lillie Ockerman, wife of R. H. Ockerman, who died Aug. 25, 1903, Grant Medsker and Louella Bailey, wife of J. E. Bailey. All of the children together with eleven grandchildren and ten great grandchildren are still living except Lillie.

March 1, 1901 he was married to Miss Almira Douglas who died in 1903. March 2, 1906 he was united in marriage to Miss Olive Keys who was always a faithful help mate and devoted wife.

In boyhood he united with the Methodist Episcopal church in Sugar-free Ridge, later moving his membership to Mt. Auburn M. E. Church, north of Hillsboro. He lived a consistent, christian life for over 60 years and was greatly esteemed by all who knew him.

Soon after the opening of the Civil War he entered the service of his Country and participated in a number of battles and engagements. He seldom referred to his war experiences but his comrades speak of him as a brave man and a courageous soldier.

It was the privilege of the writer of this brief sketch to have known Thomas S. Medsker intimately for over half a century. He was a dependable neighbor, a successful business man, honest and upright in all his dealings with his fellow men, whose life and goodly influences will be missed by all who knew him.

Obituary.

Rufus O. Elliott, son of Charles and Nancy Elliott, was born on May 13, 1840, not far from where he died at the home of his son, D. H. Elliott, at 5:30 o'clock, Saturday, October 11, 1924, aged 84 years, 4 months and 28 days.

In 1864 he was united in marriage to Hannah A. Vance, to which union were born three children, two daughters, Lydia and Ella, and one son, David, with whom our departed friend has made his home for many years past.

Besides his immediate relatives there are numerous other relatives, and hosts of widely separated friends and acquaintances who are grief stricken at the death of this aged and generally beloved man.

Mr. Elliott, or Uncle Rufus, as he was widely known, has been in failing health for many years due to the complications of chronic disorders and the infirmities due to old age. But with the will power that has characterized his whole life, and a tenacity that few human beings of any walk in life have possessed, he has insisted on assuming some of the active responsibilities of the farm, and practically up to the time of his death did much of the choring that accompanies farm life. The life of Uncle Rufus should serve as a beacon light, not alone to those through whose veins his blood courses, but to the young people of the present generation, both young men and young women, whose field of labors brings them under the influence of his life. Relatives, friends and neighbors all testify to the homely integrity and moral standing of Mr. Elliott. Since his life seemed to be more or less that of a superficial christian as of Folsom years ago.

Death of Charles Johnston

Charles Johnston, aged 78 years, died at his home on North West street Tuesday, after a lingering illness. The funeral services will be held Friday, conducted by Rev. J. Hubbard Morton. Burial will be made in the Hillsboro cemetery. He is survived by his wife, two sons, Wm. and Edward, and one daughter, Mrs. Louis Caldwell.

He united with the M. E. Church at Prospect during the first service conducted by Rev. Scarff, by letter. Since that time health permitting, he has been a consistent church goer and an active Christian worker in the church. This act alone, if not another worthy example in Mr. Elliott's whole life could be found, should be sufficient proof to those who are attempting to live outside the church, that in the Kingdom only, can one live a full, complete and successful life and at the setting of the sun find as a reward for our labors, the Haven of Rest. Why not profit by the lesson of our departed friend and multiply the usefulness of our early life by enlisting as a Christian soldier of some denomination and carrying on the work of the Master more effectively? Let us hope that the good influence of Mr. Elliott's life will continue long after the name has ceased to be spoken.

Obituary.

Laura Josephine, daughter of Jonah and Rachel Britton, was born Oct. 10, 1860, at the old homestead, Forest Home, near New Vienna, Ohio, where with her two sisters and three brothers she spent her early girlhood life. For over fifty years they have been privileged to live and enjoy each other's company. The circle is broken and their favorite sister had gone to join the hosts of loved ones and will await the coming of those she loved so dearly as they gather home one by one.

On Dec. 6, 1883 she was happily married to James Simpson Oldaker, with whom she lived for more than forty years.

On the morning of October 27, 1924, just at the early dawn of a beautiful morning the tired spirit of our sister winged its flight to the realms above.

In early girlhood Josephine united with the Christian Church at Mt. Olive under the ministry of the Rev. Sayers. After the marriage she brought her membership to the M. E. Church at Russell where she has been an efficient worker. Her religion was not as a loose garment to be thrown off and put on at pleasure but a habit of her life. In the atmosphere of religion she lived and moved and had her being. Neither was she of the somber type but was more frequently wreathed in smiles than bathed in tears.

She was a woman of more than ordinary good sense, a quality born into the nature which neither wealth nor education nor religion can give. She was superior in many respects yet she never aired her superiority but by her ease and affability of manner, drew every one to her. Her home was a home indeed and to her household she leaves a precious legacy and through them though dead, she yet speaketh.

Born of Christian parents and reared in a Christian home, a character that had been builded in that body for so many years, culminated in a transfiguration upon that early morning after a quiet Sabbath.

While at her bedside on Sunday eve, she spoke to Eddie and Charles, who had been so kind and attentive to her during her sickness and told them to be good and faithful. Then later in the evening she talked to her sister, Jennie, and brother, Everett, her daughter, Jennie May, and her dear husband, telling them of their devotion and loving kindness to her and as she was entering the valley and the end was drawing near she said to her daughter, "Tell papa to come and help me through the valley", and when she was assured that they all were praying that the end might come peacefully, the fight which had been a brave one was soon over and she sweetly sank to rest in the arms of Jesus.

Obituary of Mary Ann Nevin.

They are gathering homeward from every land.

One by one, one by one;
Their weary feet touch the shining strand

One by one, one by one;

Monday, Nov. 3 in the early hours of the night the angel of death visited a home and the weary feet of an aged and devoted mother touched the shining strand of a happy endless eternity.

Mary Ann, daughter of James and Delilah Fenner Mobberly, was born near Hillsboro, Oct. 10, 1831 and passed away at her home Nov. 3, 1924, aged 93 years, 24 days.

She was united in marriage to Robert Boyd Nevin May 4, 1854. After a long life in which they shared together the sunshine and the shadow of fifty-nine years he was called to his heavenly home Sept. 29, 1913. To this union were born eight children, four sons and four daughters, three daughters died in infancy. One daughter, Jennie, reached the age of twenty years and the taking of these daughters left an indelible impression on the home. Two sons, George and Ben, were called in young manhood, and finally Boyd, with whom she made her home, was called and the aching void in a great mother's heart was left to be filled by one devoted son, Louis, G. Nevin, and two daughters-in-law. One the wife of Mr. Nevin and the other the widow of Boyd, who did all in their power to make the declining years of her pilgrimage as happy and free from care as possible. For more than two years she has been greatly afflicted with the infirmities incident to old age but was in her usual health until five hours before her death.

Surrounded by a faithful neighbor and Miss Carrie Hiestad, who had lovingly and tenderly ministered to her wants for twenty-one months and the daughter-in-law, Bessie, to whom Mrs. Nevin had been a mother for many years, she passed peacefully away without struggle or a moan.

Our very hopes belied our fears
Our fears our hopes belied;
We thought her dying when she slept
And sleeping when she died.

In October 1811 she confessed her faith in her Savior and united with the Methodist Church in Hillsboro and lived a consistent Christian life for eighty years.

Charles Johnston was born in Stockholm, Sweden, May 13, 1846. He was educated in the schools of his home city. Being a student in the schools of the old world where the keynote is strictness and thoroughness he was especially well educated. At an early age he was christened in the Lutheran faith. Through constant observation and considerable study, he educated himself particularly in botany and was ever happy when working with his plants and flowers, especially so in later years.

Desiring to take advantage of the greater possibilities and liberties of America, he emigrated to the United States. On Nov. 4th, 1868 he anchored at New York harbor. He traveled considerably in his adopted country and eventually located in Hillsboro. He engaged in the green house business and has lived in and near Hillsboro the remainder of his life, with the exception of two short visits to his homeland.

On July 23rd, 1872 he was united in marriage to Belle L. Bennett. To this union six children were born, two of whom died in infancy. On Aug. 27th, 1894 this happy family circle was again broken, this time the Grim Reaper took the devoted wife and mother. Thus upon him was thrust the care of their four children, one an infant son of only six days. By patient, untiring effort he succeeded through his trials and met his difficulties fearlessly and bravely.

On March 14th, 1900 he was married to Jennie L. Brooksbank, who has been a faithful companion in his declining years. Six years ago he was deeply grieved by the passing of a son, Samuel, who was only yet in his young manhood.

Beside his widow, he is survived by three children, Edward, Mrs. Lewis Caldwell and William, five grandchildren and two great grandchildren, all living in and near Hillsboro. He had suffered considerably with an incurable malady for several years but bore his sufferings quietly and patiently, and fearlessly awaited the transition to the life beyond, where there is no pain and sorrow. As the morning sun was rising Nov. 4th, 1924, he peacefully fell asleep to awaken in "That Beautiful Land."

The golden gates were opened.

A gentle voice said, "Come."

And with farewell unspoken,

He calmly entered Home.

In his passing, a loyal and devoted husband, father and friend has gone to his reward. He was one of the charter members of Highland Grange. As long as his health would permit he greatly enjoyed attending its meetings. In the Grange circle, we are again reminded, that, "One by one, God calls us home. One more brother has joined the summoned throng upon the other shore."

Charles Johnston was a studious reader and possessed a keen intellect and unusual memory, which factors gave him an interesting personality. He was honest, frank and industrious, being a friend to those in need and deeply realizing his obligations to his fellowman. He was never more happy than when welcoming his family and friends to his home. He led a plain courageous, unpretentious life, believing that the teachings of the Scripture, especially the Golden Rule, was the law by which the life of man should be guided and governed.

The body of Mrs. Charles Redkey of Cincinnati was brought to Sugar-tree Ridge M. E. Church on Monday where the funeral services were held after which she was laid to rest in the Country there. She leaves a husband and two children.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 25.—U. S. Commissioner Gregory met the champion father of southern Ohio in his office today and was so impressed that he permitted the man to arrange bail.

"Judge, I wish to introduce to you the champion father of southern Ohio," said Attorney Thomas Elliott. "Henry A. Griffith, farmer of Belfast, has 27 children and step-children who are rather desirous of his release from the Hamilton County jail, where he has been held in default of bail," Elliott said.

Griffith was arrested with Merl Wheelen and Ray Gustin, also of Belfast, a week ago by federal prohibition agents, and charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. It is charged that they were the owners and had been operating the large still found on the farm of Wheelen.

He said that he had married three times and had 10 children of his own and 17 step-children, ranging in ages from 5 to 35 years. He was unable to recount the number of grandchildren.

Neighbors of Griffith went on his bond for $1,000.

TAKEN SUDDENLY ILL.

David S. Hays was taken suddenly ill Wednesday morning while taking an order over the telephone at his grocery. He was removed to his home and a physician called. The physician states that he did not suffer a stroke and is not in a serious condition.

DEATH OF ANDERSON MCKINNEY.

Anderson McKinney, aged 69 years, died Saturday at his home on Hardin's Creek. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon; burial in Hardin's Creek cemetery. He is survived by his wife and one daughter.

Mrs. Charles Brewster fell down the stairway of her home at Waynesville Friday morning and fractured her skull, dying almost instantly. She was Miss Molly Cochran before her marriage and had been born and reared near Harwood. She was a sister of Mrs. John Fawley, of near Taylorsville, and Mrs. Charles Brown of Dodsonville.

Just how the accident that caused Mrs. Brewster's death occurred will never be known as she was alone in the house at the time. Friday morning when Mr. Brewster left the house to go to his work, his wife told him that she was going to Lebanon to do some shopping and would not be home at noon. He came home at noon and proceeded to get something to eat and of course did not think anything of his wife not being there.

He started to go up stairs and opened the door at the foot of the stairs and the body of his wife which was lying against it fell out on the floor at his feet. His terrible shock can be imagined. He at once summoned a physician who said that Mrs. Brewster had been dead for an hour.

Mrs. Brewster kept some potted plants on a table at the head of the stairs. An examination disclosed that the flowers had been taken from the table and placed on the floor and clean paper had been put on the table. It is believed that Mrs. Brewster had been working with her flowers and stepped into the open stairway and fell to the bottom of it; that in her fall she struck her head and fractured her skull. The body had been lodged at the foot of the stairway against the door.

She was 54 years of age and is survived by her husband and one son, Bernard. The funeral services were held at Martinsville Sunday. She had many relatives in the western part of this county.

While here to take testimony in a law suit, H. H. Grant, public stenographer of Cincinnati, received word that his daughter, Miss Elsie, aged 18 years, had committed suicide. The girl despondent over failure to keep up in her studies at the University of Cincinnati, shot herself through the heart with a Robert rifle. Mr. Grant was in the midst of taking testimony in the case when he received the word and could not leave until court adjourned.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Leber, wife of Frank S. Leber, Sr., was born June 11, 1874, and died in Hillsboro, Ohio, December 16, 1924 aged 50 years 6 months and 5 days. Her death was due to a complication of diseases. Her illness had been prolonged and all was done for her that loving hands could do. But in her is found another instance of Death claiming as his own one who would have remained with us longer if we could have prevailed with prayer and tears.

Mrs. Leber has been a life-long resident of this county. Here she was born and reared; here she was married and raised her own family; and here at last amid the scenes so long familiar she will be laid to rest. She is survived by her husband and eight children: Frank, Sr., Herman, Joseph, Pearl, Margaret, Herbert and Charles, all of Hillsboro and Mrs. S. L. Ault of Cincinnati. Of her immediate family there are still left to mourn her passing a group of four sisters.

Mrs. Leber became a member of the Church of Christ in Hillsboro during the meeting held by J. V. Updike in the summer of 1899. The facts are not known definitely, but the likelihood is that she was baptised at the hands of T. S. Buckingham, who was at that time the local minister. It was for just such an hour as this that that step was taken, and because of it there rests with her friends the hope that she has made her peace with God and has now made her transition to her reward. Now that her tired frame has fallen asleep, knowing as we do the trials she had to bear, is it not a blessed thought that out of the Great Beyond there comes the word with which we comfort our hearts today: "We sorrow not as those who have no hope."

"Asleep in Jesus, blessed sleep,
From which none ever waken to weep,
A calm and undisturbed repose,
Unbroken by the last of foes."

DEATH OF MRS. STANLEY ROGERS

Mrs. Stanley Rogers died Sunday morning after a long illness with heart disease. While she had been seriously ill for months, her death was unexpected and came as great shock to her family and friends. The funeral services were held at the Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, conducted by Rev. F. A. Johnson. Burial was made in the Hillsboro cemetery.

Mrs. Rogers was 37 years of age. She is survived by her husband and three little children, two daughters, Marian and Martha, and one son, Thomas, her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Harsha, and one brother, Paul Harsha, and one sister, Mrs. Fay McMullen, of Polk. She was born and reared in Hillsboro. She was a woman of fine qualities of heart and mind and had taken an active part in church and social affairs. A talented musician, she had often delighted Hillsboro people with her music. She was a loving wife and a fine mother and her death is a great loss to her family. Deep and sincere is the sympathy felt and expressed for them.

DEATH OF MISS ISABEL TROTH

Miss Isabel Troth, aged 84 years, died Wednesday at the Hillsboro Hospital after a lingering illness. The funeral services were held Saturday at the M. E. Church at Lynchburg, conducted by Dr. McAdow. Burial was made in the Lynchburg cemetery. She was an aunt of Mrs. Thomas Berry, of this city.

Mrs. James Adams, aged 56 years, died at her home in Highland Sunday after a lingering illness. Funeral services were held at the home Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, conducted by Rev. B. E. Wright. Burial was made in the Highland Cemetery. She is survived by her husband and two daughters, Mrs. Robert Morton, of Columbus, and Mrs. Edna Woodmansee, of Highland. She was a sister of Mrs. Joseph S. Kerns, of this city.

OBITUARY.

Nellie, daughter of Daniel and Johanna Malloy, was born March 11th, 1876, and departed this life Nov. 20th, 1924.

Of her family but one remains, a brother, who mourns the deep loss of an affectionate sister.

Nellie's life was spent in Cincinnati, where she met and married Charles W. Redkey, Dec. 1st, 1908. To this union was born three children, one son and two daughters. The son, Charles, Jr., dying at the tender age of two years. The daughters, Hazel and Ruth, with the husband survive, and mourn the loss of one who was nearest and dearest to them on earth.

Her illness was of short duration, and almost without warning the end came. But Nellie's life has been one of loving kindness towards others and no sacrifice was too great to make for her family and her church.

God has called, and she has answered the summons. The words of the poet fittingly portrays this sudden departure.

How vain is all beneath the skies!
How transient every earthly bliss!
How slender all the fondest ties
That binds us to a world like this!

But though earth's fairest blossoms die,

And all beneath the skies is vain,
There is a brighter world on high
Beyond the reach of care and pain.

Then let the hope of joys to come
Dispel our cares, and chase our fears,
If God be ours, we're traveling home
Tho' passing through a vale of tears.

"A full rich nature,
Free to trust,
Generous to a fault,
And almost sternly just."

Milton Reece Elliott, son of Willie Elliott and Harriett Reece, was born March 24, 1842. He was the eldest of a family of five. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. M. E. Shaw and M. F. G. In 1865 he united in marriage with Phebe J. Cowgill, from which union six children were born, William B. Elliott, Harry Evans Elliott, Frank W. Elliott, Mrs. E. E. Hoffman, Mrs. R. P. Thompson and Mrs. John Wilson. This happy family circle was broken in 1878 by the death of the mother. Frank died at the age of three and William in 1921.

In 1881 he was again united in marriage with Rebecca Burgess, from which union two children Mary and Edward were born. Death claimed Rebecca Burgess Elliott, Dec. 1923.

In July 1916 he suffered a stroke of paralysis from which he never entirely recovered, but during the past eight years he was able to enjoy many happy hours with his family and friends.

He disliked sentimentality and his sincere love of the beauties of nature were seldom expressed in words but he was always delighted with a trip through the hills.

Among his friends and associates he was noted for his integrity, his devotion to the highest ideals, and his clarity toward his fellowmen.

In his modest and unassuming way dispensed the hospitalities of his home with a freedom and grace that proclaimed him one of nature's noblemen.

He died Nov. 21, 1924. Here is the sum of life. Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter. Youth vanishes and the autumn of middle age is upon us, then the frost falls upon our heads, we are old and our winter has come. So live that in thy Winter time thou wilt have no wish to live thy life over, but like the contented husbandman, thou wilt rejoice in the good harvest of happiness and contentment that thou hast cultivated.

Waldo Oden, although unconscious, lived from near 9 o'clock, Saturday night until about 4 o'clock Sunday morning, following injuries he received when he fell from a tree. Waldo, aged sixteen, with a neighbor boy named Quincy Davis, had left their parents' home in the Lebo neighborhood north of Hamersville, in Brown county to go coon hunting. Finding or locating a prospect in a woods belonging to Robert Wilson, he climbed to the top of a leaning tree. He lost his hold and fell to the ground, the distance being estimated 60 feet. As quickly as possible his companion summoned assistance, and he was taken to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Oden. Examination revealed that he was injured internally, and that one arm was broken in three places, besides other injuries. The young man was a student of the Hamersville school. Funeral services were conducted Tuesday, from the home, after which burial was made in Warner cemetery.

OBITUARY.

As loved ones watched with her the death angel came to the home of Mrs. Hannah Hughes Allison, widow of John B. Allison, in the early morning of November 6, 1924, as a most welcome visitor and bore her beautiful Christian spirit to the realms of everlasting peace, happiness and reunion with husband, sons, parents, brothers and sisters, also the full vision of that face divine, which she had long loved unseen.

Since the early evening of January 18, 1924 she had been a constantly great but patient sufferer. After supper that evening she left the dining room, her housekeeper thinking she had gone to her room as was her usual custom. A few minutes later she was greatly surprised and alarmed by hearing her calling to her from the side yard and going out found her lying on the ground unable to get up alone. No one else being about, the housekeeper finally succeeded in getting her up and into the house. Next she called some of the neighbors and the family physician and everything that science or medicine could offer or love and sympathy suggest was tried but all in vain, as she was never able to again leave her bed without being lifted and carried to a chair. Yet to the last she retained her mental faculties; her keen business sense, her interest in the farm work, community matters, public affairs but above all was her devotion to her church duties and, never did she murmur nor complain of her affliction. Ready and willing to die she did not worry but very often would say, "If the Lord be willing I should be glad to die but His will be done."

Hannah Susannah, the first child of Peter Love and Mary Kerrigan Hughes, was born Sept. 24, 1937, near Marshall, Highland county, Ohio. At an early age her parents removed to the ancestral lands of her mother in Adams county, Ohio and the rest of her long, busy and helpful life was spent in the same community, the old homestead being now owned and occupied by two nephews, Burch and Toby Hughes.

Mrs. Allison was a woman of rarely clear and forceful intellectual and business characteristics, these natural gifts being enlarged and emphasized by a liberal education and an ever continuing study of changes of conditions, thus coming to be recognized as a woman who knew how to discuss farm and public problems with the acumen of the best read men, and this was, never, in the least degree detrimental to the solution of her every day domestic problems.

Her education was carefully looked after by her parents. Her early years were spent in the public schools of the state, later becoming a student at the Ursaline Convent at St. Marius, Brown county, Ohio, where her aunt, Marie Hughes, was a member of its first class. After completing her course there she became a successful teacher in the public schools of Adams county.

November 3, 1859 she was married to John Bratten Allison, a nephew of John Bratten, a childless landholder and financier of Loudon, Adams county, with whom Mr. Allison had lived for some time. The young couple made their home on the farm of Mr. Bratten and after the death of his wife went into his home taking the place of children, giving to him the care, respect and love that he deserved.

Three sons, Frank, Charles and James were given them, each growing to manhood and marrying. When they, especially Charles, evinced a strong desire to pursue higher courses of study, than the public schools offered, she did not allow her mother love to make her selfish but cheerfully agreed to aid them in every way she could to realize their desire for greater learning. Frank and James chose business courses both marrying and continuing in their chosen lines until ill health compelled both to quit. Frank lengthened his life, likely, by taking up farm work but James kept on until forced by failing health to abandon his chosen line and business and seek health through rest but it was too late. Both dying in comparative youth. Frank left a widow, one son and two daughters; James left a widow but no children.

Charles studied and taught for a time, after leaving the Hillsboro High School and also attended college before the study for the profession that most strongly appealed to him, that of surgery and medicine. Like his brothers he had to combat a tendency to tubercular trouble, so rested, voyaged to Europe and South America, made wise study of his health until success, as one of the truly great surgeons and physicians, was an assured fact. His loved and loving mother had the great joy of living to see her son stand second to no other in his chosen life work, also to see his work and ability recognized by the best of the profession, not only in the United States of America but of Europe, also.

Yet in spite of his former success by making himself rest, he finally was sacrificed to his overmastering desire to cure or at least aid and relieve the afflicted ones, who so incessantly called upon his skill and knowledge.

The loving and unselfish little mother, who has just gone to be forever with her loved ones, gave up her last son and murmured not, but bowing said, "Thy will, dear God, be done", and kept right on at her daily duties. The great mother love of this wonderful woman did not die with her sons but went out to her five grandchildren, a son and two daughters of her first born, Frank, and a son and daughter of her second son, Charles, the third son, James, leaving no children.

Her three daughters-in-law, Mrs. Lizzie Theines, of Ft. Smith, Arkansas, Mrs. Catherine Creighton Allison, widow of her son, Charles, of Omaha, Neb., Mrs. Mary Ingebrand Allison, widow of her son, James, of St. Paul, Minn., Charles Allison, a grandson of Texas, were present at the funeral.

The funeral services were held Saturday morning, November 8, at St. Mary's Catholic Church, conducted by Rev. Father Hocter. Mrs. Allison's parents were Catholics and she was brought up in the church, being loyal to its teachings to the last. A more devoted member has ever been a communicant at St. Mary's and her life was devoted to the service of the church and a generous bequest will aid the church and also give perpetual care to St. Mary's Cemetery. Life's work well done she rests beside her husband, two sons, parents, brothers and sister to await the great resurrection call.

Charles E. Bradley and Imo E. Purdy, both of Buford.

William F. Jenike, of Coshocton, and Martha I. Shannon, of Hillsboro.

Charles Sirabry, of Mowrystown, and Sarah Scott, of Buford.

DEATH OF ED. J. MUNTZ

Ed. J. Muntz, aged 63 years, died Thursday morning at his home at Oakley from pneumonia. He had been an invalid for five years. The body was brought here and taken to the home of his sister, Miss Rebecca Muntz. Funeral services were held at the home Saturday morning, burial in the Hillsboro cemetery. He is survived by his wife and three children, one daughter, Mrs. Mabel McCune, of Columbus, and two sons, Atwood, of Dayton, and Guy, of Dayton. Mr. Muntz spent most of his life in Hillsboro, moving to Oakley fourteen years ago. He was a contractor and builder.

REAL CHRISTMAS WEATHER

Every thing is covered with snow Wednesday and weather reports are that this will be a white Christmas. Saturday and Sunday were the coldest days this winter the mercury getting down to near zero each night. Monday and Tuesday the weather was moderate and Tuesday afternoon it began to rain, freezing as it fell and streets and sidewalks were soon very slick. This turned to snow during the night and Wednesday morning about an inch of snow had fallen.

Washington, C. H.—Tragedy has spread deepest gloom over the Christmas season for Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hilterbran and family, who reside eight miles northwest of this city on the Jamestown pike, as the result of a terrible accident, which occurred about ten-thirty o'clock Saturday morning when the son, Delbert Hilterbran, aged 17 years was so terribly injured by the discharge of a shot gun that death followed several hours after the accident.

Mrs. Hilterbran had been ill and Delbert, in company with his brothers, John and Thomas, decided to go out Saturday morning in the hope of shooting a rabbit as a delicacy for their mother. In climbing a fence the shot gun which Delbert was carrying by the barrel in some manner was fired and the boy received the entire discharge in the pit of the abdomen. The brothers, who were some distance ahead of him, whirled about when they heard the discharge of the gun and the lad's scream and upon reaching him saw at once his pitiful condition.

The wounded boy was rushed to the Fayette County Hospital and an operation performed but he sank rapidly and died Sunday morning.

The deceased was one of a family of twelve. The family has suffered several distressing accidents. One child was burned to death at the age of four years, sometime ago. The father also lost his foot when a youth.

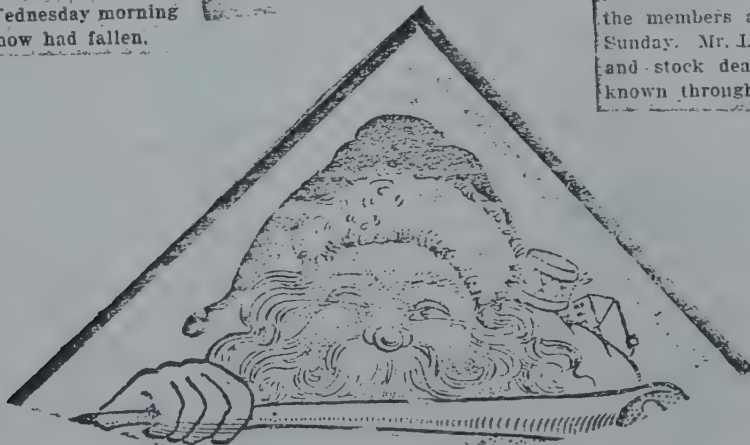

Robert T. Leaverton, one of the best loved citizens of Leesburg, died Friday morning after an illness of two months. He was 88 years of age and had lived most of his life in Fairfield township. Funeral services were held in the Leesburg Methodist church Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, conducted by Rev. Adshead, assisted by the Elks and Masons. He is survived by his wife and three foster children, Fred Wolfe and Mrs. Haldane Evans, of Leesburg, and Leslie West, of Chicago.

His wife, who is 87 years of age, fell on the evening before his death, and broke her hip. On account of her age, the injury is a very serious one.

"Uncle Bob" as he was affectionately called by almost everyone, was a lovable character. He was kind, considerate and generous with a manner that won and held friends. When a young man he was a United States marshal in the West. This was in the days of the border ruffians when it took a real man to fill the job, in the days of train and bank robbers, when men shot quick and straight. It was a delight to hear him tell of these experiences.

Mr. and Mrs. Leaverton had no children of their own, but took into their hearts and home three orphans to whom they were all that any father and mother could have been.

The funeral of Mr. Leaverton was the largest ever held in Leesburg, testifying to the love and esteem in which he was held by his neighbors. He was the oldest member of the Hillsboro Lodge of Elks and 100 of the members attended the funeral Sunday. Mr. Leaverton was a farmer and stock dealer and was widely known throughout the county.
